What do The Winds Say?

"Rough Winds—That Moanest Loud"

at this time of the year, seem to waft on their frightened wings a doleful warning to mankind of the grim gatherings of the germs of malaria, which lay across their passage through fields and forests and over marshes and meadows. Take, therefore, timely heed, and keep in readiness a good stock of

SOUIBB'S AGUE SPECIFIC

The Medicine of the Millions

for Malaria, Influenza, Ague and all other fevers. "SQUIBB'S AGUE SPECIFIC saved the lives of two patients—one an infant—who were seriously ill with the effects of malarial fever and had been given up by the doctors as hopeless cases,"—C. L. D Prayero, Hyderabad, Dec.

"The sales and reputation of SQUIBB'S AGUE SPECIFIC are hardly denied even by the defendant's witnesses".—The Hon'ble Mr. Justice M. H. W. HAYWARD, I.C.S., High Court, Bombay.

"I have never yet come across a remedy at once so effective and prompt in its effects."—
J. E. LEE, Personal Asst. to the Home Secry., Hyderabad, Dec.

Expectant and Nursing Mothers

find in Glaxo a most valuable aid, for, taken regularly two or three times a day by the mother herself (both before and after the birth of her baby), Glaxo not only maintains the Mother's own strength without taxing her digestion, but also enriches and increases the flow of breast milk. This is because milk makes milk, and Glaxo is the nourishing solids of the finest cow's milk, suitably modified and made germ-free and comfortably digestible by the Glaxo Process.

Should the breast milk fail from any cause, or not nourish Baby satisfactorily, Glaxo can be given to Baby in turn with the breast or as the sole food from birth, for it contains everything to nourish Baby and nothing to cause him harm

is in continuous use by

Over 1,200 Infant Welfare Centres in Great Britain

If your Chemist or Dealer cannot supply please send his name and address to "Glaxo Special Representative" C/o S. F. Colah & Co. 70, APOLLO STREET, BOMBAY.

THE FAMILY REMEDY

FOR PAINS AFTER EATING, FLATULENCE, INDIGESTION BILIOUSNESS, CONSTIPATION, AND OTHER STOMACH & LIVER TROUBLES

For nearly half a century, Mother Seigel's Syrup has been the reliable family medicine in hundreds of thousands of homes throughout the World, for the prevention and relief of stomach and liver troubles, and as a ready means of recovering and maintaining good health.

Mother Seigel's Syrup has a gentle tonic action upon the digestive organs—the stomach, liver and bowels—toning and strengthening them so that they are able to do their work effectively and obtain from the food you eat all the nourishment requisite to keep you strong and vigorous.

Keep Mother Seigel's Syrup handy. It is an ideal family medicine.

MOTHER SEIGEL'S SYRUP

Placed First

in order of merit by doctors, nurses, and mothers, throughout the world; prescribed by British doctors for 35 years; used in British military and civil hospitals and convalescent homes; ordered by the British, Indian, Canadian and Australian Red Cross, etc.

A Watch that Workers Need at the Price they want to pay.

Good time-keeping quality is the main thing in a watch with the man who has to "clock in" to his work. It isn't the pretty case or the fancy dial that makes him lay his money on the counter. He wants a watch that will keep good time. Not for a day or a week, but one that will keep on keeping time day in and day out for years—one that isn't put out of business by a little rough handling that some watches get but can't stand.

Ingersoll Radiolite

The Watch that gives 24-hours-a-day Service.

And to get this sort of watch he doesn't have to pay a high price. In the Ingersoll Radiolite he can get a watch that is especially made to withstand the rough and tumble of everyday wear. Thousands of users find their Ingersolls keep better time than other watches costing pounds more. With its "Radiolite" figures and hands an Ingersoll tells the time at night as easily as by day. This makes it twice as useful to all night workers.

Only Ingersolls are Radiolite Watches and every GENUINE Ingersoll WATCH HAS THE NAME ON DIAL.

Ingersoll "Radiolite" is a full 24-hour-a-day watch, reliable in every way.

There are a number of Ingersoll models from Rs. 4/8 down to Rs. 10, sold by leading stores and shops throughout the world

If any difficulty in obtaining, send for Illustrated Catalogue to:—

INGERSOLL WATCH CO., LTD., 179, Regent Street, London, W. 1., England.

IN
'THE SILENT MASTER'
In 5 Reels
A Masterpiece of Mystery
UNIQUE! ROMANTIC!! THRILLING!!!

But it was not to this Woman he said:
"I Don't Know What Love is."

Neither woman knew that the other existed; neither the woman who had robbed herself of love, nor the woman who had inspired love where it had not been! But both play parts of dramatic importance in

THE SILENT MASTER

Another Powerful Selznick Feature

The story deals with adventures with the Apaches in Paris and a romance that swings across the Atlantic into fashionable New York Society. It contains many spectacular scenes, including a panorama of Paris from Montmartre

STARRING THREE POPULAR PLAYS

Anna Little—as Jacqueline, one gamin of the streets, tied by the bond of the common law.

Robert Warwick—The Silent Master of men and women, loving none until————!

Olive Tell—as Virginia, who conquered but then discarded the Silent Master.

A Sweeping current of dramatic action makes "The Silent Master" one of the big features of 1920.

THE GREAT HISTORICAL FILM.
"CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS"
Discoverer of America for the Western World Sailor of Fortune and Dare Devil Adventurer.

All the main incidents of that wonderful voyage are faithfully depicted in the film, and we are shown also the return of the famous sailor and his reception at Court the wonder with which were inspected the riches and spoils of that unknown land, the gold and the cotton and the Parrots, the Curious arms of the Indians, the Mysterious plants and the unknown birds and beasts and insects.

We are given an Insight to the Subsequent Voyages of Columbus—how he set out with High Ambition and Return in ome cases almost broken-hearted and in one instance in irons.

DAILY WEATHR REPORT.

Summary of observations recorded at 8 hours on Friday, the 30th July 1920, giving data for the preceding 24 hours.

The Punjab.—Hissar and Ambala report 0.13in. of rain each. Skies are clear in the west Punjab and are moderately or heavily clouded elsewhere. Humidity is below normal in the north Punjab. Day temperature is in excess at Rawalpindi, but is generally in defect elsewhere. Night temperature is above the average at Lahore, but is below it at Hissar.

The United Provinces.—Rainfall has been nearly general and in places it has been very heavy; Mainpuri reports 3.40in., Cawnpore 5.10in. and Allahabad 1.27in. Skies are overcast. Humidity is generally above normal. Day temperature is in defect at Mainpuri and Allahabad; night temperature is slightly lower than usual at most stations.

Sind and Rajputana.—Mount Abu reports 0.15in. of rain. Skies are clear or only lightly clouded in the north and are moderately clouded elsewhere. Humidity is in excess at Jaipur. Both day and night temperatures are generally below normal in Rajputana.

Gujarat, Kathiawar and Central India West.—Dwarka reports 0.40in. of rain, Surat 0.10in. and Indore 0.11in. Skies are moderately or heavily clouded.

The Central Provinces.—Skies are moderately or heavily clouded. Humidity is below normal at Amraoti and Nagpur. Day temperature is in defect at Raipur.

The Konkan.—Rainfall has been nearly general; Bombay has had 0.17in., Ratnagiri 0.14in, Mormugao 0.12in. and Karwar 0.45in. Skies are moderately or heavily clouded. Humidity is in defect at Ratnagiri. Day temperature is below normal at Karwar.

The Bombay Deccan and Hyderabad.—Belgaum reports 0.16in. of rain and Hyderabad 0.26in. Skies are moderately or heavily clouded. Humidity is below normal at several stations. Day temperature is above normal in Hyderabad and at Malegaon and Sholapur.

General Remarks.—Rainfall has been nearly general on the west coast of the Peninsula, in the east Punjab and the United Provinces. Some heavy falls are recorded in the latter area, Cawnpore reporting 5.10in. and Mainpuri 3.40in Local rain has fall n in Central India West, south Rajputana, south Gujarat, west Kathiawar, the south Bombay Deccan, south Hyderabad, Mysore and on the north Madras coast. Day temperature continues low in Rajputana, the east Punjab and locally in the United Provinces.

Forecast.—A decrease of rainfall is likely in the United Provinces and some extension in the Central Provinces and the Bombay Deccan.

India Telegraphic Summary for the 29th July 1920.

The monsoon has weakened in Rajputana and Gujarat, but shows signs of improvement in the Peninsula. Rainfall has been nearly general in Burma, Assam, Bengal, Orissa, the United Provinces, the east Punjab and the Konkan, and local in Chota Nagpur, Bihar, Central India, Malabar and south-east Madras.

A few falls have also occurred in the west of the Central Provinces, the Bombay Deccan and Mysore.

STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The following information is published in order that vessels in the Bombay Harbour may by comparison with a standard instrument ascertain the errors of their barometer :—

The reading of the Standard Barometer in the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 80 deg. F. and the level of the tide at 6-45 a.m., Standard Time on the 30th July 1920 was 29.833 inches. For temperature corrections applicable to mercurial barometer of ships the reading of the ship's barometer has to be increased or decreased 0.13 inch for every 5 degrees according as the temperature of the attached thermometer is respectively below or above 80 deg.

In case of the aneroid the temperature correction is needed but for comparison at 80 deg. F. all aneroid readings should be increased by 1.38 inch. For correcting the ship's barometer either mercurial or aneroid for the height of the barometer cistern above the tide in the stream at 8-45 a.m., Standard Time the ship's barometer readings should be increased by 0.1 inch for every 16 feet of the height to make it comparable with the observatory barometer reading given.

Read the opinions of those who know. Extracts

An Army Officer in a letter, writes :—

"At present I am unable to further encourage this new Bank, but I consider, it is what is wanted—and in consequence I sent this amount at once—I will make it a point of telling men of the Indian Army about thisnew means of investing their money and of banking it."

The Civil and Military Gazette, Lahore, says :—

"The objects of the undertaking are primarily to carry on the business of banking and to promote the financing of business undertakings and industries. This is a definite step in the development of the industrial fabric of India.... There is no reason why this Company should not find its place in the sum. If the promoters of this Company carry out the principles that they set out in the prospectus they have every prospect of success, and at all events they have our best wishes for their new venture.

The Pioneer, Allahabad, says :—

The Bank will undertake both Industrial and Exchange business, in other words on the one hand it will help the country to develop its industry, while on the other hand it will be a medium to assist the sale of surplus manufactures outside India."

The Swadeshmitran Madras says, :—

"The Bank has been chiefly established for promoting Industries and facilitating merchants and the public in Exchange and Industries. The Directorate has here formed of very able and experienced gentlemen. We hope that with the help of the public this new Bank will work for the benefit of the Company."

The New Times, Karachi, says :—

"The Directorate is strong and consists of experienced men of business....The Bank shares are considered to be excellent investment."

The Liberal, Lahore :—

The management has been entrusted to the enterprising firm of merchants, Messrs. Khosla Bros.....We wish this Banking enterprise a great success."

The Jame Jamshed (July 13th 1920), Bombay, says :—

"It is highly necessary that the industries of the country should be developed, and to that end, it is desireable that banks should be started at various places in India for the purpose of financing the industries. At the same time there is a vast and profitable field in Exchange business. Where other Exchange Banks with heavy expenses have been able to declare as high a dividend as 64 % it is manifest that this Bank which is to be conducted on economical lines will be able to give good dividends. Among the Directors of the new Bank are Khan Bahadur B. D. Pudumjee, who has a very wide experience.....Mr. Khosla who is the chief promoter of the Bank has over 19 years' banking experience to his credit. We wish all success to this new Indian venture."

The Sanj Vartman, (14-7-20) Bombay, says :—

"As the promoters of the present concern propose to work the Bank on economical lines, it will not be surprising if they are able to declare a still higher dividend. Many influential men are on the Board of Directors of the Bank....Mr. Khosla commands very wide experience in banking and is well known as a banker as well as a merchant....there is every prospect of the public taking good advantage of these shares."

The Gujarati (18-7-20), Bombay :—

"As in other business concerns everything depends upon good management, the Board of Directors seems to be composed of capable and influential merchants.....It will assist the people in the development of the industries of the country, will train up graduates and undergraduates in the business line, and bring into play talents which are at present dormant or wasted."

The Praja Mitra and Parsi, 13-7-20, Bombay :—

From the accounts detailed in the prospectus it will be seen what huge profits are earned by Exchange Banks, and as this Bank is to be worked on more economical lines there will, indeed, be a very good future for the Bank. Khan Bahadur B. D. Pudumjee is the president of the Board of Directors. He has a life-long experience of the mint and is a Director of many mills and firms....."

BOMBAY MARKETS.

COTTON.

(From our Correspondent.)

Bombay, July 30.

In the Home market we have seen fluctuations during the week resulting in a decline to 25th instant of 75 points in New York October, and 15 points in January; and in Liverpool to a decline of 101 points in October and 77 points in January. The straddle which we recommended some time ago of sales of October against purchases of January or March in Liverpool has narrowed from 217 points to 177 in October March, and is likely to narrow further. The Bureau Report will be published in America on 2nd August, and forecasts of the condition are about 76 per cent, and of the crop thirteen million bales. Fluctuations are probably on weather reports, and we may hear of crop scares.

In the local market the week opened with a further decline and Fully Good Broach July-August touched Rs. 417. Later on there was a better tone and the price advanced to Rs. 431½. Yesterday the highest and lowest prices were Rs. 429½ and Rs. 418½, and the market closed at Rs.419½. To-day the Marwadi bazaar opened at Rs. 418. Closing rates are given below.

The market seems to be obsessed by the heavy stock of cotton in Bombay and the balance of this year's crop remaining up country. A bearish feeling has existed throughout the season, and prices have been pushed down o pre war rates the stock is really very little larger than it was at this time last year, though the balance up country is certainly larger. At the same time there is no particular reason why present prices are about Rs. 200 to Rs 325 lower than they were last July and we think we are near the bottom of the market, if it has not already been touched. At the present level mills are showing more disposition to stock, and certainly prices are very much in their favour.

Crop reports are on the whole favourable. Heavy rain has fallen in parts of the Punjab Rajputana and United Provinces and a break is now needed. Rain is required in the Berars and Central Provinces as also the Barsi districts. The crop in Khandesh and Broach is doing well.

The following figures of prices in 1919 as compared with prices in 1920 will be of interest:—

PIECE-GOODS.

Bombay, July 30.

The huge fire in the Mulie Jetha cloth market has disorganised business to a great extent and although many dealers have settled down into new surroundings, there are still some who have been finding difficulty in obtaining shops, wherein they can sit and trade. Those who have suffered on account of the fire have been busy making up accounts of loss and preparing statements of their dues, which has been found a rather difficult task in cases where the books have been burnt. It will be some time still before their attention can be diverted from these affairs to business. Owing to the very high rate of insurance in this locality three further of the dealers concerned had not insured their goods and these will have to suffer heavy losses, and it is left to be seen whether other dealers will treat them generously under the circumstances. As stocks of several styles have been burnt, sellers have been rather firm have not been disposed to meet buyers in price. In fact, some cloths have registered an advance in the rates in spite of the poor demand. Looking to the high prices, buyers are inclined to purchase only from hand to month, the tightness of money also contributing to that end. On the other side, however, the Manchester Market has been firmer and the latest quotations have shewn a rise on the previous rates. The recent panic in the chinese market has been over, old contracts being taken up and enquiries for fresh business being made. There has been a great irregularity in prices of different makers in accordance with their engagements, but those that are in need of work prefer to restrict production than accept orders at unremunerative rates. Makers of thoties have been without orders for a very long time and some lots that have fallen late in delivery have been cancelled by the dealers.

In Grey shirtings the tone has been firm and steady. Jaconets and Drills have not attracted much attention at the moment.

Local Mill cloths have moved off in small lots at full rates.

Japanese goods owing to light stocks have ruled firm.

WHITES.

A better tone has been noticeable in White goods. Green End narrow width mu have advanced by two annas per piece, as also 39 inches by 20 yards Gold End mulls The price of 58 inches Red End mulls has gone up to Rs. 11-4. Values of 26 to 28 inches by 18 yards ranges of nainsooks have been put up on a high level owing to light stocks, but no buyer ventures to purchase at the high rates quoted. White shirtings have remained steady with little doing.

The quotations for the leading chops of Greys and Whites are as under:—

A meeting of the Bombay Municipal Corporation was held under the presidency of Mr. V. A. Dabholkar, yesterday.

FRONTAGE ACQUISITION.

The Corporation resumed the adjourned debate on the seventy-first report, dated the 28th February, 1920, of the Roads Commitee, regarding the acquisition of frontages in connection with (1) the proposed extension of De Lisle Road northwards to Lady Jamsetji Road and (2) the widening of Lady Jamsetji Road to Bandra Causeway.

Mr. Mirza A. M. Khan urged an acceptance of the Committe's report in toot. The land-holders were to egt the full value and 15 per cent. extra under the Land Acquisition Act and he saw no reason why they should grumble at that.

Mr. N. V. Mandlik, supporting the report, declared the new road would be a boon to the inhabitants of Mahim and the future generations would bless the object which the present land holders cursed.

Mr. S. C. Dhondy thought the Mahim landholders stood a chance of becoming millionaires at some time in future under this scheme.

Mr. R. B. Mantri supported Dr. Sukhia's amendment.

Dr. A. G. Viegas urged that the case of individual poor land-holders, who might be hard hit by the policy they were adopting, should be borne in mind.

Dr. N. H. E. Sukhia was against landholders being asked to pay betterment money because, he said, the Corporation, in giving the locality roads and other conveniences were merely carrying out the duties which they were bound to do and it was therefore not reasonable to ask them to pay extra charges for them. He considered it, more desirable to effect a compromise as suggested in his amendment by which the land-holders might retain the frontages.

Mr. Gulabchand Devchand declared it would be unjust to landholders to snation away their properties which had been theirs for centuries in order that people from other parts of the city might go and live there.

Dr. Jehangir Cursetji was in favour of betterment charges being recovered in easy instalments from the poorer landholders.

The closure was applied at this stage, and Mr. Cowasji Jehangir, the mover of the original proposition, replying on the debate, said the constructions of Cadell Road greatly appreciated the value of adjacent land and the owners profited by the unearned increment at the expense of the general tax-payer who paid for the road. The Corporation then learnt a lesson and adopted the present principle and he did not think it was unfair to ask land-holders to give up in the shape of betterment charges a fair share of their profits so earned.

ORIGINAL PROPOSITION PASSED.

All the amendments were lost, and the original proposition, moved by Mr. Cowasji Jehangir and seconded by Mr. Naoroji M. Dumasia, which approved and adopted the Committee's report and directed that a copy be forwarded to the Commissioner for information and necessary action and recording the letters received from different associations in the matter, was carried.

The Commissioner said that although Dr. Master's amendment had not been accepted he might be allowed to say that he was considering whether an arrangement could be made for the adoption of a system of payment by instalments for the benefit of small landholders. He would also consider the question of giving them some frontage land made out of other pieces of land available.

BAPTY ROAD HOUSE COLLAPSE.

Mr. B. N. Motiwala moved:—

"The the attention of the Municipal Commissioner be drawn to the collapse of a portion of a four-storied house on Saturday, the 12th June 1920, which was situated at the end of Bapty Road and which resulted in the death of two tenants, and to the evidence given by witnesses at the inques as reported in the "Times of India" of the 14th June 1920 and particularly to that given by Mr. B. M. Nariman, the Assistant Engineer, Bombay Municipality, and that he be requested to report to the Corporation the steps he intends to take hereafter, under Section 354 of the Bombay Municipal Act, with a view to prevent such occurrences both in this Monsoon and future monsoons."

INSPECTION OF HOUSES.

Mr. Motivala said that in view of the state of things now prevailing in the city, it was absolutely necessary for the Municipality to interfere and ascertain periodically whether the houses were in safe and habitable condition. Landlords did not appear to consider it their duty to repair their houses nor did the tenants care to give information to the authorities that their houses required to be repaired.

Mr. Motiwala thought an inspection of houses should be taken before the monsoon set in so that the landlords might be compelled to repair their houses in time. He asked the Commissioner to consider whether it was possible periodically to issue certificates to house-owners regarding the safe condition of their houses.

Dr. Jehangir J. Cursetji seconded the proposition.

Dr. N. H. E. Sukhia said the Corporation had already had a report from the Commissioner on the general question of the powers of the Municipality under Section 354 with regard to the inspection of houses, and discussed it on July 5, and he did not think any useful purpose would be served by asking for another report.

The Commissioner said Dr. Sukhia had anticipated part of his reply. He would submit a report if the Corporation insisted upon having one but he would have nothing new to say on the general question. He might say, however, that he was going to inquire whether the police had legal powers to turn out tenants from a building which, they were convinced, was in an unsafe condition. Under the Municipal Act he had no such powers.

The motion was lost.

The Corporation adjourned to Monday.

G. I. P. RAILWAY WORKERS.

MEN FEELING DISAFFECTED.

According to the graded scale adopted by the G. I. P. Railway Workshops the men were given certain increments in their wages last May. But disaffection is again developing among the men, as they do not appear either to have grasped the whole situation or economic distress is so great that the increment given is not to their expectations.

An urgent meeting of the men was held yesterday at 9 o'clock at Parel under the presidency of Mr. S. H. Jhabwala, when the whole situation was completely explained to the men and they discussed the points among themselves for over two hours.

It was resolved that representatives from the Parel Workshops and Matunga Workshops should go along with Messrs. Jhabwala and Ginwala to the heads of the departments and the whole situation should be threshed out before them on Wednesday next.

Again there is some trouble as regards transference of service with which the men are dissatisfied.

It is expected the officers will sympathetically listen to the men's complaints and bring about the solution of the whole problem. At the end Mr. Jhabwala asked the men to take an increasing interest in the forthcoming Labour Congress for which a general meeting is coming off shortly.

"WRONG IN PRINCIPLE."

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE."

Sir,—I have waited a few days after I wrote my letter regarding Mr. Junglewalla's appointment to see what opposition it provokes, but I see that there is none worth speaking of. I am sorry I was not able to find out from Mr. Ghaswalla at first-hand whether he had applied or not. May I say one word to him when he so emphatically avers that he never intended to seek the appointment? Is not this sort of attitude responsible for the kind of argument that Mr. Chinoy advances? As for Mr. Chinoyi himself, I wish him all luck. The High Court Bench may some day find a place for him. About Mr. Visram, I regret I cannot speak lightheartedly, since his years at least ought to have brought him better briefs than water-tap squabbles. Mr. Taraporewalla is fractious and deserves only one word, which he might have had if he had taken the trouble to find it out privately. I have not and I do not mean to appear in Mr. Junglewalla's court.—Yours, etc.

HIGH COURT

THIRD CRIMINAL SESSION

ACQUITTAL OF EUROPEAN IN ARSON CASE

When the Session's commenced yesterday in the case of Emperor vs. James Munro, James Munro was put up for trial on the charge of committing mischief by fire, at a building viz., the Transvaal Terraces at Falkland Road on the 2st of June 1920.

The Advocate-General appeared and submitted to the Court that he had looked into the papers of this case and he was of opinion that the accused should not be prosecuted on this charge. He therefore asked for leave to enter a "nolle prosequi" under sec 333 of the Criminal Prosecure Code His Lordship gave that permission and ordered the accused to be discharged, the discharge amounting to an acquittal.

OLD M N'S WAYS.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE."

Sir,—Your bold though, as was expected, unsuccessful stand against the conferring of the Hon. L.L. D. degree on Sir Narayan Chandavarkar and Sir Chimanlal Setalvad has, I am afraid, too late, evoked a defence of Sir Narayan by "An Old Man of Fifty" through the columns of the "Times of India." The writer in his attempt to exonerate some members of the Senate of your charge against them of mutual admiration to congratulate them on their "boldly disregarding the dishonest agitation engineered by the "Bombay Chronicle," out of mere political prejudices and differences of opinions" has, in my opinion acquitted himself, so well that I would recommend to the Senate this "Old Man of Fifty" for the conferment of the L.L. D.! The particular fete achieved by this gentleman which according to the present-day ideas of the Senate, can certainly make him "eminently fit" for the Degree, shows that the gentleman is an expert in that wonderful art, vulgarly termed plagiarism.

Says our veteran:

One fervent appeal, Sir, to young men in particular for whom Sir Narayan has been toiling ceaselessly so long, with a full sense of responsibility. There is a diminution of that peculiarly Hindu quality of reverence for age, which in this country of ancient sages, has always been the distinguishing mark of the relations between the old and the young. I very much wish that in fashioning their lives, in yielding their heart's homage, in regulating their attitude towards elders, whether they happen for the moment to agree or not to agree in their opinions and in their judgments, in all those relations of life they will exhibit a chivalry, a magnanimity, a reverence for age, which in the materialistic West is not always observed in political and other gatherings. I could much wish that they resolve that while imitating everything that is valuable in the West they would not imitate the idol-breaking tendencies that are too often observable in those who fashion their lives blindly and carelessly on Western models. Whatever they may do, let them spare the great, let them spare the mighty ones that have laboured amongst them. Let them spare Sir Narayan for his grey hairs, for his golden tongue, for none has the gift of eloquence, none has the gift of touching the young mind to the finest issues of which it is capable in such a measure as he. Spare him for the greatness of his services, for his great and undimmed fame, for the splendid example of purity of life he leaves you, if only they could cherish it with the proper spirit, the undying example he leaves you of fearless, persistent, useful and honourable devotion to the cause of the country."

Said the Hon. Mr. Srinivasa Shastri at the 1st Moderate Conference proposing a vote of thanks to Babu Surendranath Bannerjee:

"To you, young men in particular, who listen to me from the gallery, I wish to address one word with a full sense of responsibility. I have been blamed in the past for remarking that perhaps amongst the political enthusiastics of your age, there is a diminution of that peculiarly Hindu quality of reverence for age, which, in this country of ancient sages, has always been the distinguishing mark of the relations between master and pupil. I very much wish that in fashioning your lives, in yielding your heart's homage, in regulating your attitude towards your elders, whether you happen for the moment to agree or not to agree in their opinions and in their judgments, in all those relations of your life you will exhibit a chivalry, a magnanimity, a reverence for age, which in the West is not always observed in schools and colleges and political and other gatherings. I could much wish that you resolve that while imitating everything that is valuable in the West you would not imitate the idol-breaking tendencies that are too often observable in those who fashion their lives blindly and carelessly on western models. My young friends, whatever you may do, spare the old, spare the great, spare the mighty ones that have laboured amongst you. Spare him, and honour him, I say, for his silvery hair, spare him and honour him for his golden tongue (hear, hear), for none has the gift of eloquence, none has the gift of touching the young mind to the finest issues of which it is capable in such a measure as he. Spare him and honour him, I exhort you, for the greatness of his services, for his great and undimmed fame, for the great example he leaves you, if only you could cherish it with the proper spirit, the undying example he leaves you of fearless, persistent, useful and honourable devotion to the cause of this country. (Loud and continued applause.)

But for the change of the second personal pronoun for third person and deletion of "Hear Hear" and "Applause," our "old" friend has shown the vigour and smartness of reproducing the whole appeal word for word and has beaten hollow even—

SPORTING NEWS.

TO-DAY'S RACES.

SELECTIONS BY "NEMO"

For the Epsom Plate MAZBOOT, VALLANCE and TAGAMOR should be in the picture.

In the Beginner's Plate a lot of unknown quantity appears, BUNTY, NERISSA and SYLVAN DALE ought to render a good account of themselves.

The C. B. Trial Plate will probably end in a tussle between MAIDEN PALM and DISCARDED.

MECHANIC, TIGER and DUNBAR are the three best candidates in the Mohammerah Plate.

For the Stockton Plate LEMON, QUARTERLY, and BATTEN look promising.

In the 1st Div. of the Aleppo Plate, KARAM, CARLISLE and ANDOLIS are three old stagers.

In the 2nd Div. AMERICA, LAST DAY and SPINNER will find the distance suitable.

In the 3rd Div. LUTCHMAN has shown his sprinting abilities, and should run well, BILL BAILEY and PEACE DAY will follow the leader.

THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE
Saturday, July 31, 1920.

NON-COOPERATION.

The special sessions of the Indian National Congress and the All-India Moslem League will be held early in September in Calcutta. The task, with which these two representative bodies of the Nation will be confronted, is a task the like of which, both in the gravity of the issues involved and the potentialities of the decision that may be arrived at, his never faced any single country and any single nation in the history o mau. Many a nation and many a country have in the past been called upon to face an issue centering in religion or in politics. But no nation and no country have had simultaneously to face issues affecting the two deepest sentiments of men—religion and honour. That India should be subjected to this ordeal is the measure of the wrongs done to her and her people. And the unparalleled character of the ordeal is brought in relief by the fact that India, in so far as the possession of weapons to undo the wrongs done is concerned, is seemingly helpless. In the circumstance, it is not surprising that in different parts of the country the feeling of despair, to which the people have been driven by the failure to secure due redress in regard to the two continuing wrongs of the Punjab and the Khilafat, is finding expression in different voices. There is, at one end, Mr. Gandhi, with the Central Khilafat Committee, impressing upon the country the need of accepting the non-cooperation movement with its four defined stages. There is, at the other end, a body of men whose faith in the familiar forms of constitutional agitation is too strong to make them endorse what they regard as "a gospel of impatience in politics." These different voices are inevitable and, in a way, welcome. For they help in removing all doubt and hesitation—a process which is essential if the Nation is to come to a considered judgment as to the course of action it must decide upon, and, more, having once come to a decision, to carry it into effect with resolute determination and unflinching courage.

The outstanding fact of the present situation is that the people are groaning under a double wrong the injustice of which has never been paralleled in history; the supreme need of the moment is the discovery of a weapon that will enable them to undo the wrong. To put it otherwise, the supreme task of the moment is the search for an answer to the challenge of reactionary forces which are seeking to reassert their mastery at the end of a war that was fought to destroy them for ever. The challenge as far as the Khilafat is concerned is the challenge of aggressive economic imperialism; the challenge in regard to the Punjab is the challenge of militarism—the doctrine of the rule of one nation by another by force. To this two-fold challenge India has to give an answer that, by capturing the imagination of the democracies of the world, will bring home to them the urgency of rendering these reactionary forces impotent for all time. Such an answer it is impossible to make if the country is content with the methods of constitutional agitation to which it has been hitherto accustomed. The unparalleled situation which faces us to-day is the creation not of properly constituted Government functionaries, but of forces against which the latter are themselves helpless. The fact is so patent that it needs no emphasis. What else can explain the failure of a Government, profuse in brave words, yet unable to put forth action suited to the words as far as the Punjab is concerned? What else also can explain the open and unashamed violation by the same Government of solemn pledges and high-sounding principles so far as the settlement of Turkey is concerned? Therefore, the struggle that India has to wage is not against Government but against perverted and dangerous methods of dealings as between one nation and another. The time-honoured methods of constitutional agitation will, therefore, not do, for the simple reason that they have failed. New methods of constitutional agitation have, therefore, to be devised. The Council of the All-India Home Rule League has adequately indicated the need of the situation in the followig resolutions which it has passed:

(a) This Council is of opinion that unless full and speedy justice is done in the matters of the Khilafat and the Punjab there will be universal disaffection in the land undermining the foundations of the Empire and permanently shaking the faith of the people of India in British justice and goodwill.

(b) With a view to avoid such permanent embitterment and estrangement of feeling and to present to the people a method of expressing their opinion in a disciplined manner and to find a way of enforcing national will and avoid any eruption of violence, this Council recommends the principle of non-cooperation, specially the proposed boycott of the Councils, to the Special Session of the Congress for consideration.

What the people need at present is a method of expressing their opinion in a disciplined manner and to find a way of enforcing the national will, avoiding any eruption of violence. Now every country, it is said, gets the Government it deserves. The people of India feel that they have not the Government they deserve. For the essence of a satisfactory Government is, that it should be malleable to the general will. If our Government were malleable to the general will of the people, the Punjab and the Khilafat wrongs, once enacted, would not yet have remained continuing wrongs. Therefore, the general will must assert itself to secure the ending of the wrongs. Till the end is secured, the general will must remain in conflict with Government. That conflict—that is, this new form of constitutional agitation of which the country has been in search,—has been presented by several leaders of the country in the garb of the non-cooperation movement.

Now the crux of the question is: What is to be the practical shape which this non-cooperation movement is to assume? We think it will readily be recognised that whatever the form of "non-cooperation" the country is asked to adopt, as a result of the deliberations of the Congress and the Moslem League, two paramount conditions must be satisfied: It must carry with it the certainty of success and it must not be such as to involve, directly on indirectly, the eruption of violence. For the movement to be inherently successful, it must utilise the most potent force the country possesses at the moment—the joint effort of the Hindu and the Moslem. For the movement to avoid any eruption of violence, it is essential that it should not infringe any law of the land as interpreted by the best constitutional authorities. Above all, the movement must be launched into being only after the mandate has been obtained from the joint deliberations of the Congress and the All-India Moslem League. Otherwise, it cannot be said to be the answer of the country to the call of the situation. We earnestly trust, therefore, that the Central Khilafat Committee and Mr. Gandhi will postpone the carrying out of their movement until the representative national bodies have pronounced their views. As to those who counsel that "non-cooperation" in any form is sure to prove a failure, because "the history of nations affords no instance to show that it has, when employed, succeeded and done good," they do not seem adequately to have realised the meaning of their own words when they acknowledge that the treatment of the Punjab wrong "has shaken India's faith in British justice" that "Parliament and the Cabinet have not risen equal to the imperative demands of that tragedy in consonance with British traditions of fair play, justice and humanity" and and when they also acknowledge the terrible injustice of the Turkish treaty. They do not realise that no country in the history of man had ever found itself the helpless victim of such wrongs. The history of man is the history of progressive evolution of precedents. If "non-cooperation" in any shape is a gospel of impatience in politics, the obvious inference is that the political history of the world has been a history of nations continuing to remain patient in spite of grave injustices and wrongs. That, however, is not historically true. Again, to say that "for their political wrongs, active, steady and constitutional efforts are the only effective and lasting means of redress" is not an argument against non-cooperation in any form. For there are several forms of "non-cooperation" which are fully constitutional. And it will decidedly be one of these forms of non-cooperation which the Congress and the Moslem League will adopt, if they adopt any. And it is not improbable that the Congress and the League may not be able to decide upon any form of "non-cooperation" which will satisfy the two essential conditions we have defined. For the task is as overwhelmingly difficult as it is unexampled. But whatever the verdict of the Congress and the League, it will be the verdict which the country will be bound to follow.

THE BETRAYAL OF ARABS

If any single act of Allied diplomacy had been needed to tear off the last shreds of the mask covering the hideous reality of naked and unashamed aggressive "economic imperialism that is abroad to-day, mocking the nascent hopes that had been engendered in the hearts of the "peoples" of the world by the downfall of Teutonic Jingoes, it is afforded by the action of France in Syria. The violation of Syrian independence by the occupation of Damascus and the overthrow of the Government of Emir Feisul, who had been proclaimed King by the common consent of all the people of Syria, the demand for the payment of ten million francs as "reparation" for the resistance offered by the Syrians to French aggression, and for the handing over to the French of the principal "guilty" persons,—these and other acts of aggression on a peaceful and unoffending people, on flimsy pretexts, which deceive no one, are calculated to destroy the last vestiges of faith of the "peoples" of the world in the benevolent intentions of the "statesmen" who led the guileless people to believe that the war was being waged for justice and humanity and to make the world safe for democracy. Instead, these war-makers have made the world safe for an imperialism, which is proving ten times more dangerous to the peace and safety of mankind than Prussianism, in that while the latter went about in undisguised colours, the former is camouflaged in high-sounding phrases of a tortuous diplomacy, which has only one end in view; and that is self-aggrandisement at the expense of helpless people. The French aggression in Syria has torn to tatters Article 22 of the Convention of the League of Nations; and he would be a fool, indeed, who believed any more that "mandates" under the League could in any way be distinguished from open subjugation, at the point of the bayonet, to an alien yoke. Great Britain, who has consented to the "mandate" for Syria being given to France against the wishes of the people of Syria, cannot be absolved from all blame attaching to the unwarranted aggression in Syria. It is idle to pretend that the policy which France is pursuing in Syria has not the tacit approval of Great Britain. The latter herself is following an almost identical course in Mesopotamia and other parts of the Ottoman Empire and it is, therefore, perhaps, futile to expect that French aggression in Syria would be viewed with disapproval by the statesmen to whose hands the destinies of the British Empire are at present consigned. But do these Allied statesmen stop to think what disastrous effect their doings are having on the minds of peoples all over the world? The King of Hedjaz, we see, has appealed to Great Britain to intervene and has withdrawn his representative from the Council of the League of Nations.. What reply has Great Britain to give to this loyal "Ally" of hers? British statesmen will, perhaps, say that it is now too late. We also believe it is too late, for the betrayal of Syria by the Great Powers, who talked of safeguarding the independence of small nations, is now complete.

Notes of the Day.

Mr. B. G. Tilak.

Our readers will be glad to learn that Mr. Tilak's health has shown signs of improvement since yesterday morning. The doctors state that there is every hope of his feeling much better within a couple of days. Sir Narayan Chandavarkar and Mr. Jinnah were among the callers at the Sardar Griha yesterday. Sir Ramkrishna Bhandarkar sent a telegram from Poona earnestly wishing Mr. Tilak a speedy recovery. The Hon. Mr. Khaparde arrived here yesterday.

Russia and Peace.

The Bolshevists are reported to have occupied Pinsk; the Allies to have ordered troops to remain in what the League Covenant calls "the free port of Danzig", in order to prevent the dockers from refusing to transport Allied war-material to Poland; and finally Von Simons to have hinted at the Allies asking Germany to join in helping Poland thus giving the former an opportunity to have her say in the settlement of Eastern Europe. Whatever the outcome of sporadic fighting, whatever the significance of Tsarist generals and military commanders refusing to stop their march to Warsaw and into East Galicia; we are convinced that the opportunity offered to the Soviet Government to conclude what is for it a world-peace is not likely to be lightly ignored at the instance of hot-headed leaders of a "United Russia" movement. It is too much to expect that Allied statesmen will throw all their ideas of the sort of peace they want to impose on Russia, to the winds and call for a policy of open covenants; no aggrandisement; no territorial ambitions. The two ideas uppermost in their diplomacy must still remain, firstly the desire to obtain the payment of Tsarist debts; secondly a territorial adjustment in Eastern Europe which will act as a sort of cordan against Bolshevism. M. Pichon called "cordon sanitaire." But the fact is that the General Conference called for in London is not going to be another Versailles Conclave.

British Finance and British Policy.

Mr. Chamberlain in the House of Commons states that Britain has about reached the limit of her taxable capacity. He says that national expenditure will amount to £1,282 millions this year—nearly a thousand millions more than the average peace-time budget figures! The alarm raised at the mention of this colossal sum has caused the Press to cry: "Chamberlain Must Go." But whether Mr. Chamberlain goes or not the prospect he has pointed of a future free from financial care will have to be relegated to the sleepful columns of the popular journals which demand a sense of security, even if it is false rather than the slightest dis urbance of their mental furniture. Mr. Godfrey Locker Lampson sums up the situation by saying that the present swollen budget is due to the fact that "The Government is a war Government, used to spending money by the billion, without check or question, and the habit of mind thus formed persists in peace." Mr. Asquith particularised the situation more clearly in his remarks on the third reading of the Finance Bill. He cited the case of Mesopotamia, "the estimates for which had been recently reduced, but where forces were now being increased." What could Mr. Chamberlain say in reply? He took shelter under a vague pretence that the abandonment of Mesopotamia and Palestine would be "an ignoble and foolish policy." We cannot see any nobility in tearing up the Covenant of the League; nor in the mad rush for oil; nor in the militarist administration of so-called mandatory territories. Mr Chamberlain goes further and states that the giving up of Mesopotamia and Palestine would purchase neither security nor economy. It is a strange type of economy which forces the pace towards bankruptcy, and a strange type of security which creates the insecurity of perpetual conflict, disorder, anarchy and smouldering war. Unless the financial heads of Britain realise that it is not possible to decrease national expenditure by increasing international committments there will be no return to sanity. In the present state of Europe a Government—Labour, Liberal, Conservative or Coalitionist—riding the high-horse of Imperialism is a Government riding to a fall.

The Chronic Crisis in China.

The story is related of an attempt made sometime ago by the Chinese in Mukden to erect an electric plant. The contract was assigned to an American company which proceeded to set up poles in the streets, suspending further operations until the arrival of the wires. Now, according to the compact between Japan and China, the former country was placed in possession of the railway line South of Chang-Chun. Its jurisdiction extended to a narrow strip on each side of the railway. In Mukden itself the Japanese had no right to any territory except the land around the station which is three miles from the city-walls. Nevertheless the Japanese, afraid of a stolen march, began erecting poles in the same street where poles had been raised already by the American company. No permission was asked of the authorities but when challenged the Japanese pretended that they were merely decorating the streets in honour of Prince Fushima's visit and that they would remove the decorations on its conclusion. But the visit passed and Japanese wire and Japanese poles held the day against the American Company on the one side and the Chinese authorities on the other. This instance is typical of Japanese tenacity wherever there is a chance of grabbing territory or forcing a commercial outlet. China naturally has lain for years under the spell of foreign "imperialisms," and has become a prey to the predatory policies of unscrupulous financiers. The disappearance of the ancient Imperial dynasty; the secession of the South, and the lates episode resulting in the collapse of Tuan Chijui and the victory of the Chihli-ites are signs of the disruption of an old order. It is reported that the downfall of the Anfuites means "good feelings towards the loan as far as China is concerned"! Apparently nothing else matters but loans and concessions in China. However if the result of the Chihli-ite debacle is union between the North and the South and a vigorous policy where Japan is concerned, then a near approach to the solution of a difficult problem will have been made by the well-wishers of China.

Labour Must Remain Vigilant.

Reuter cables that one of the subjects to be discussed at yesterday's meeting of the Council of the League of Nations at San Sebastan was the claim by the Government of India for the membership of the Executive Committee of the International Labour Office. We suppose Reuter really means by "the Executive Committee," the Governing Body of the Labour Office. According to Article 393 this must consist of 24 persons—eight representing members of Governments which are considered to be of "chief industrial importance;" four selected by Government Delegates of the Conference other than the above mentioned; eight elected by Delegates to the Conference representing Employers; and six similarly representing workmen. It appears that India, which can stand up to any country in the world in so far as industrial importance is concerned, has been left in the cold as if she did not matter. Now she claims, through the Government, her right to be considered as one of the first-rate industrial nations of the world. This claim must of course be conceded. But let Labour remain on its guard and insist upon its right to chose its own delegate to the International Labour Conference, who naturally will have as much right as any other delegate to nomination to the Governing Body of the International Labour Office.

THE HOUR OF TRIAL.

NON-COOPERATION.

BOMBAY MUSLIMS' SUPPORT.

APPEAL TO HINDUS TO JOIN.

A public meeting of the Mahomedans of Bombay was held on Thursday night at the Muzzafarabad Hall, Grant Road, for the purpose of considering the question of non-co operation, Hartal, sufferings of the Haj pilgrims and the stoppage of cow-killing. Mr. Ahmed Haji Siddik Khatri was voted to the chair. About seven thousand Hindus and Mahomedans attended the meeting and many had to go back as the hall was packed long before the appointed time.

Among those present were Mr Gandhi, Shrimati Sarala Devi Chaudharani, Mr. S. G. Banker and many others. The proceedings were in Urdu.

THE PRESIDENT

The president said:—Islam has presented two fundamental principles, namely, the articles of faith and principles of action. The articles of faith possess power of inspiration and regulation, the former inspires in man a desire to do good actions and the latter keeps the different elements of human nature into moderation. In fact a firm belief in the articles of faith leads man to the principles of action. This shows that Islam requires people "to believe" "and to do good actions." In the Holy Quran belief and action go side by side. That is to say every Muslim who believes in Allah is required to act upon His Commandments as well. It is not only the duty of every Muslim to act upon both the fundamental principles of Islam but also to preach them to others and to invite them to translate them into action. This is what is termed as "Promulgation of Truth" and "call of Duty." Every sphere of human life depends upon these two principles. Before we wish to do anything we always set certain principles on which our line of action rests. After having confidence in those principles we act. Mere principles without action lead to nothing.

These very two principles are before us in our present distress. During the War the British ministers gave us solemn deliberate pledges regarding the integrity of the Khilafat, the Jazirat-ul-Arab and the holy places of Islam. When the War came to an end the terms on which the armistice was concluded were openly broken by the Allies, and the utterances of the British statesmen clearly indicated that the British Government did not lant to have a fair play with Turkey. This created unrest and excitement among the Indian Muslims. Since then the Indian Muslims have spared no pains to place, in the clearest possible manner, their religious demands before the British Ministers. They made representations and demonstrations and sent their representative Khilafat Delegation under the leadership of Maulana Mohammad Ali. This was an invitation of Truth which the Indian Musalmans gave to the proud and selfish European Powers so that the latter might do justice to their cause. But these efforts produced no desirable results. The Allied Powers and specially the British Government paid no heed to our constant appeals for justice and righteousness.

ONLY ONE COURSE.

Is it not unjust that the Turkish Peace Terms are not yet finally settled by both the parties and yet the Allied Powers have begun to act upon them? In these circumstances there is only one course left to us. We should also act upon certain conditions offered by us to the British Government. You all know that at the All-India Khilafat Conference, held at Delhi, during November, last, it was unanimously decided that if the decision with Turkey was inconsistent with the religious demands of Muslims then the Indian Muslims would withdraw all co-operation from the British Goverment. This decision of the Delhi Conference had been re-affirmed at the next sessions of the Khilafat Conference, and the Central Khilafat Committee of India was asked to give practical effect to it. The Central Committee, at its Allahabad meeting, finally adopted the resolution of non-co operation and appointed a Committee whose decisions are now binding on the whole of India. The Non-Co-operation Committee has decided that the 3rd Khilafat Day should be observed on the 1st of August by suspending all business, observing fast and holding meetings, and that the movement of non-co-operation should be vigorously taken up on and from that date.

Now the time for practical action has arrived. But before asking you to give proof of your moral strength by peacefully carrying out the non-co-operation programme, I would like to explain briefly on what principle this movement is based. The fate of thousands of Muslims is being placed in the hands of the Greeks and other non-Muslim Powers. The holy land of the Jazirat-ul-Arab is taken possession of. The religious sentiments of Muslims are carelessly disregarded for the sake of oil fields. In these circumstances we ought to see what Islam has enjoined upon its followers regarding their treatment towards those who are not friends of Islam.

NON-CO-OPERATION.

Various injunctions of Quran clearly show that no Muslim is allowed to co-operate with those who are not friends of Islam. Not only that, but every Muslim is required to do all he can to weaken the strength of those who are not friends to Islam under these circumstances, and any Muslim who fails to do this duty is excluded from the Islamic brotherhood. You must be knowing an important incident of Ka'b son of Malik. He could not join the battle of Tabuk simply owing to indolence. His action incured the displeasure of God. Muslims were ordered to cut away all connections with him. They were not even allowed to meet him or to talk to him. Even his wives were ordered to sever their connections with him. Ka'b had no friend in the whole of Medina until his penitance was accepted after full fifty days. This is the first instance of non-co-operation shown by Islam thirteen hundred years ago. It is therefore the duty of every Muslim not only to withdraw co-operation from those who are not friends of Islam but also from those Muslims who fail to carry out this injunctions.

Our opponents assert that some extremists have invented the movement of non-co-operation with a view to achieve certain political objects and to harrass the Government. But this is absolutely a wrong idea. We are in fact doing what our religion enjoins upon us to do. We tried our best to avoid any opportunity of resorting to non-co-operation but alas, the British Ministers compelled us to resort to it and left no other course to us. Now we as Muslims are bound to carry out non-co-operation campaign under the circumstances in obedience to the laws of Shariat and the whole responsibility lies upon those who have led us to this disagreeable necessity.

We cannot possibly tolerate non-Muslim control over the Jazirat-ul-Arab and we must arise up in the defence of our faith at all sacrifice. If we fail to do anything then remember the soul of the great martyr Hazrat Imam Hussain (peace be on him) will demand from us why we allowed to go that holy land into the hands of non-Muslims where he shed his pious and noble blood in the cause of righteousness and left a remarkable example for the future generations of Muslim. Gentlemen, just imagine what excuse we shall be able to make before the tribunal of God when we will be asked to give account of our actions? Are we not in tremendous majority as compared to the small band of noble companions of Hazrat Imam Hussain (peace be on him)?

PRACTICAL PROGRAMME.

Now I come to the practical programme of non-co-operation as set forth by the non co-operation Committee. The first thing is the surrender of titles and honourary posts. At this critical juncture when the honour of Islam is at stake it is disgraceful for any Muslim to retain any honour or titles bestowed on him by a Government which is responsible for the downfall of Islam. The next thing is not to give to or accept from the Government any pecuniary aid, as it is calculated to strengthen the position of the Government against Islam. Further the Committee wants that no Indian should accept any service, Civil or Military, in those Islamic Countries which are under the possession of the Government in violation of the ministerial pledges. The Committee also desires that the Government Schools and Colleges, and Councils should be boycotted. As regards boycotting Government schools and colleges some people think that we should not do so unless our own schools are started so that the education of children may not suffer. But this is a wrong idea. In the first place no useful education is being imparted in Government schools. If our children give up this education for a while it will not inflict any serious loss. Secondly the results of annual examinations show that in India majority of students fail on account of the severity of the examiners, and most of the students repeat the same classes again for a year. If Government schools are boycotted at once and as a result of this all Indian Students lose a year or so it will not count for much. On the contrary this loss will eventually turn into a gain, because we shall establish our own institutions as soon as possible and the loss which our children are undergoing under the present defective system of education will be replaced by a thorough system by the introduction of our own schools. It is better to take away a child from a school with a view to make thorough arrangements for his future than to waste his whole life with an imperfact education.

So far about non-co-operation. Now I want to say something about Hijrat. I am of opinion that those Muslims who feel that they cannot live as dutiful Muslims in India under the present circumstances may by all means resort to Hijrat, and it is the duty of every Musalman to help such people as leave their beloved Country and migrate in the way of Allah. Hijrat has always proved to be useful services to Islam elsewhere and I strongly full in the history of notions. But only those people should migrate who can render useful services to Islam elsewhere and I strongly recommend that a Hijrat Committee should be formed in Bombay to afford facilities to Muhajirin.

IN DEFENCE OF ISLAM.

This is an hour of trial for us all. We must strive hard in the way of Allah and undertake non-co-operation in the defence of Islam. May God help us in our present difficulties and enable us to defend our faith.

Gentlemen, before taking my seat I pray to the Almighty for the speedy recovery of Lokamanya Tilak whose most valuable services to India can never be forgotten. He is as dear to the Muslim India as to the Hindus, and I sincerely pray that he may live long among us. Amen!

PRINCIPLE OF NON-COOPERATION.

RECOMMENDED FOR CONSIDERATION.

TO AVOID PERMANENT EMBITTERMENT.

OVER KHILAFAT AND PUNJAB.

ALL-INDIA HOME RULE LEAGUE'S RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were paed by the Council of the All-India Home Rule League on the 29th July:—

1. This Council is of opinion that the peace terms imposed upon Turkey by the Allied Powers are unjust and humiliating, in violation of the overwhelming Muslim sentiment in India and contary to the pledges and assurances of British ministers and the Government of Idia regarding Thrace, Asia Minor and the holy places of Islam. This Council therforecalls upon the Imperial Government to secure at the earliest possible opportutty a revision of the terms so as to satisfy the just Muslim sentiment and to ling them in a line with the ministerial declarations; and pending such consumation and with a view to restore confidence in the British Government and to uspend the growing agitation on the Khilafat question, this Council respectfully iggests to His Majesty's Government the desirability of announcing their intenton to secure a revision of the said terms, and hopes that in arriving at a solution othe question independent Mussalmans and Hindus will be invited to assist the deliberations of the Supreme Council.

PUNJAB TRAGEDY AD HOUSE OF LORDS.

2. This Council expresses deepsorrow, keen disappointment and strong resentment over the arrogant and ignorit speeches and the vote of the House of Lords on the Punjab tragedy and i of opinion that the majority report of the Hunter Committee, the despatches of the Government of India and the Secretary of State for India clearly disclose deliberate attempt to whitewash an official crime and to minimise official misdels, and considers that nothing short of full carrying into effect of the Congress ub-Committee's recommendations contained in its report will satisfy Indian opinion.

NON-CO-PERATION.

3. (a) This Council is of opinin that unless full and speedy justice is in the matters of the Khilafat and the Punjab there will be universal dis affection in the land undermining the foundations of the Empire and permanently shaking the faith of the peop people of India in Britain justice and goodwill.

(b) With a view to avoid such permanent embitterment and estrangement of feeling and to present to the people a method of expressing their opinion in a disciplined manner and to find a way of enforcing national will and avoid any eruption of violence, this Council recommends the principle of non-cooperation, specially the proposed boycott of the Councils, to the Special Session of the Congress for consideration.

4. This Council, whilst loyally desirous of extending a welcom to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales during his forthcoming visit is of opinion that in view of the situation created by the Khilafat and the Punjab questions, it is not possible for the Council to participate in the said welcome, and unless justice is done in both thesematters in time, this Council will consider its duty to advise the people to refrain from any participation in any welcome to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

5. (a) Resolved that a General Meeting of the members of the All-India Home Rule League be held in Calcutta in September next about the time of the Special Sessions of the Congress to consider the rvision of the constitution of the League.

MR. GANDHI.

The following is an autrorised version of Mr. Gandhi's speech:

Speaking on the impending Non-Co-operation which is to commence on the 1st of August, Mr. Gandhi said the time for speeches on Non-Co-operation was past. The time for active practice has arrived. But two things were needful for complete success, an environment free from any violence on the part of the people and a spirit of self-sacrifice. Non-Co-operation, as the speaker has conceived it, was an impossibility in an atmosphere surcharged with the spirit of violence. Violence was an exhibition of anger and any such exhibition was dissipation of valuable energy. Subduing of one's anger was a storing up of national energy, which, when set free in ordered manner, would produce astounding results. His conception of Non-cooperation did not involve rapine, plunder, incendiarism and all the concomitants of mass madness. His scheme presupposed ability on their part to control all the forces of the people. If, therefore, any disorderliness was found on the part of the people which they could not control, he for one would certainly help the Government to control them. In the presence of disorder it would be for him a choice of evil and evil though he considered the present Government to be, he would not hesitate for the time being to help the Government to control disorder. But he had faith in the people. He believed that they knew that the cause could only be won by non violent methods. To put it at the lowest the people had not the power even if they had the will to resist with brute strength the unjust Governments of Europe who had in the intoxication of their success disregarding every canon of justice dealt so cruelly by the only Islamic Power in Europe.

MATCHLESS WEAPON.

In Non-coperation they had a matchless and powerful weapon. It was a sign of religious atrophy to sustain an unjust Government that supported an injustice by resorting to untruth and camouflage. So long therefore as the Government did not purge itself of the canker of injustice and untruth, it was their duty to withdraw all help from it consistently with their ability to preserve order in the social structure. The first stage of Non-cooperation was, therefore, arranged so as to involve minimum of danger to public peace and minimum of sacrifice on the part of those who participated in the Non-cooperation movement. And if they might not help an evil Governmat nor receive any favours from it, it follows that they must give up all titles of honour which have ceased to be a proud possession Lawyers, who were in reality honorary officers of the Court, should cease to suppor courts that upheld the prestige of an unjus Government and the people must be able to settle their disputes and quarrels by privat arbitration. Similarl, yparents should withdraw their children from the public school and they must evolve a system of national ducation or private education totally independent of the Government. An insolent Gcernment conscious of its brute strength light laugh at such withdrawals by the peopl which apparently helped them but he had no a shadow of doubt that the moral effect of ach a step could not possibly be lost even upoa Government whose conscience had become stfled by the intoxication of power.

SWADESHI.

He ha hesitation in accepting Swadeshi as a plank in Non-cooperation. To him Swadeshi was as dear as life itself. But he had no desire to smuggle in Swadeshi through the Khilafatmovement if it could not legitimately help hat movement. But conceived as Non-cooeration was in a spirit of self-sacrifice Swadeshi had a legitimate place in the moment. Pure Swadeshi meant sacrifice of tir liking for fineries. He asked the nation to sacrifice its liking for the fineries of Eurce and Japan and be satisfied with the coarse kt beautiful fabric woven on their handloos out of yarns spun by millions of their siers. If the nation had become really awakend to a sense of the danger to its religion and its self-respect it could not but perceive the absolute and immediate necessity of the doption of Swadeshi in its intense form as if the people of India adopted Swadeshi with the religious zeal he begged to assure them that its adoption would arm them with a new power and would produc an unmistakable impression througout the whole world. He, therefore, expected the Mussalmans to give the lead by giving up all the fineries they were so fond of and aopt the simple cloth that could be produced by labour of their sisters and brethren in their own cottages. And he hoped that the Hindus would follow suit. It was a sacrfice in which the whole nation, every man woman and child can take part.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were then unanimously passed:—

"1) This public meeting of the Muslims

THE FIRST OF AUGUST

ENTIRE ABSENCE OF VIOLENCE.

MR. GANDHI'S INJUNCTION.

Mr. M. K. Gandhi writes in "Young India":

It is hardly likely that before the 1st August there will be on the part of His Majesty's Ministers promise of a revision of the peace terms and the consequent suspension of the inauguration of non-co-operation. The first of August next will be as important an event in the history of India as was the 6th of April last year. The sixth of April marked the beginning of the end of the Rowlatt Act. No one can consider the Rowlatt Act can possibly live in the face of the agitation that has only been suspended—never given up. It must be clear to anyone that the power that wrests justice from an unwilling Government in the matter of the Punjab and the Khilafat will be the power that will secure repeal of the Rowlatt Act. And that power is the power of Satyagraha whether it is known by the name of civil disobedience or non-co-operation.

Many people dread the advent of non-co-operation, because of the events of last year. They fear madness from the mob and consequent repetition of last year's reprisals almost unsurpassed in their ferosity in the history of modern times. Personally I do not mind Governmental fury as I mind mob fury. The latter is a sign of national distemper and therefore more difficult to deal with than the former which is confined to a small corporation. It is easier to oust a Government that has rendered itself unfit to govern than it is to cure unknown people in a mob of their madness. But great movements cannot be stopped altogether because a Government or a people or both go wrong. We learn and profit through our mistakes and failures. No general worth the name gives up a battle because he has suffered reverses, or which is the same thing, made mistakes. And so we must approach non-co-operation with confidence and hope. As in the past, the commencement is to be marked by fasting and prayer—a sign of the religious character of the demonstration. There should also be on that day suspension of business, and meetings to pass resolutions praying for revision to the peace terms and justice for the Punjab and inculcating non-co-operation until justice has been done.

The giving up of titles and honorary posts should also commence from the first of August. Doubt has been expressed as to the sufficiency of notice regarding surrender of titles and honorary posts. It is however quickly dispelled by bearing in mind that the first of August marks the commencement of the surrender of titles. It is not the only day on which surrender has to take place. Indeed I do not expect a very large response on the first day. A vigorous prepaganda will have to be carried on and the message delivered to every title or post holder and the argument presented to him proving the duty of such surrender.

But the greatest thing in his campaign of non-co-operation is to evolve organised discipline, co-operation among the people, co-ordination among the workers. Effective non-co-operation depends upon complete organisation. Thousands of men who have filled meetings throughout the Punjab have convinced me that the people want to withdraw co-operation from the Government but they must know how. Most people do not understand the complicated machinery of the Government. They do not realise that every citizen silently but nonetheless certainly sustains the government of the day in ways of which he has no knowledge. Every citizen therefore renders himself responsible for every act of his government. And it is quite proper to support it so long as the actions of the government are bearable. But when they hurt him and his nation, it becomes his duty to withdraw his support.

But as I have said, every citizen does not know how to do so in an orderly manner. Disorderliness comes from anger, orderliness out of intelligent resistance. The first condition the of re of real success is to ensure entire absence of violence. Violence done to persons representing the Government or to persons who don't join our ranks i.e. the supporters of the Government, means in every case retrogression in our case, cessation of non-co-operation and useless waste of innocent lives. Those therefore who wish to make non-co-operation a success in the quickest possible time will consider it their first duty to see that in their neighbourhood complete order is kept.

"DON'T BE DISTURBED BY RUMOURS."

NO VIOLENCE ON ANY ACCOUNT.

Messrs. Shaukat Ali, Khatri and Saifuddin Kitchlew, Secretaries of the Central Khilafat Committee, send us the following on behalf of the Committee:—

"We have had rumours brought to our notice that there are likely to be arrests on Sunday and that there will be disturbances in Bombay. We wish to inform the public that there is no information in possession of the Committee regarding any arrests. In any event the programme of non-cooperation admits of no violence being offered by people on any account whatsoever. We believe the rumours, to be mischievous and entirely unfounded and we advise the public not to be disturbed by rumours, but fully go through the Sunday observations without any anxiety."

"AVOID COLLISION WITH AUTHORITY."

"OBEY ALL ORDERS AND GOVT. NOTICES."

The Non-cooperation Committee has issued the following directions regarding the Third Khilafat Day:—

The first of August is on us with its grave responsibility and important consequences. We believe that success for our just cause is certain, if we exercise greatest of self-restraint and show ample measure of self-sacrifice. If we cease to help Government and cease to take help from it we must be capable of preserving order in the country. We should, therefore, avoid collision with the authority and thus also occasion for sudden resentment. Obey all orders and Government notices.

We hope there will be complete hartal on Sunday. No pressure should be used against any one refusing to close shop.

The Committee attaches the greatest importance to prayer and fasting for inward strength and purification.

We hope too that too that largest meetings ever held will be convened on Sunday but there should be no processions.

Special effort should be made and continued to secure surrender of titles and honorary posts and parents requested to withdraw their children from schools recogised by or under Government control and lawers requested to suspend practice. We have no doubt about the moral effect of these steps.

We hope also that full Swadeshi will be inaugurated on Sunday. It enables every man, woman and child to exhibit in their own persons the spirit of sacrifice. It will be at once an earnest of our desire for sacrifice for the sake of our religion and honour and a preparation for further sacrifice.

Agitation for securing complete boycott of Councils should be continued unabated.

Finally the Committee expects the Muslims to lead as well in preserving peace and order as in sacrifice and we feel sure that our Hindu brethren will not fail to respond and join the Muslims.

TO-MORROW'S PROGRAMME.

HARTAL: PUBLIC MEETING.

The Hon. Secretary of the Central Khilafat Committee writes to us: A public meeting of the Musalmans of Bombay will be held under the auspices of the Central Khilafat Committee of India, Bombay tomorrow, the 1st August—The Third Khilafat Day—at 8-30 p.m. (B. T.) at Mastan Shah Tank, near Nagpara, under the presidency of Seth Mia Mahomed Haji Jan Mahomed Chotani, to support the movement of Non-Co-operation (Tark-i-Movalat) when Mahatma Gandhiji, Maulana Shaukat Ali, Srimati Sarla Devi Chaudharani, Dr. Saifuddin Kitchlew, Pdt. Jawahir Lal Nehru and other Hindu and Muslim leaders will be present. It is hoped that all Hindus and Mahomedans and other residents of Bombay who have got sympathy with the Khilafat movement will attend the meeting and make it a success.

There will be general Hartal throughout the city to-morrow. National volunteers shall look to the management of different localities of the town, and their head quarter will be Hilal Manzil (telephone 3425) Abdur Rahman Street.

Seth Chotani, Maulana Shaukat Ali, Dr. Kitchlew, K.B. Mohamed Ali Abdul Kadir and other Hindu and Muslim leaders will be present during the day at Hilal Manzil, and will visit the different quarters of the town to see that peace and order is maintained.

It is hoped that the day will be peacefully observed, and the evil rumours will, by the grace of the Almighty Allah, show no appearance.

MORE TITLE RENUNCIATIONS.

"BEFOOLED BY PREMIER'S PROMISES."

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

NOAKHALI, July 29.

Khan Sahib Abdur Rashib Khan, Vice-Chairman, District Board, in renouncing his title of Khan Sahib writes as follows to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal:—

Sir,—The most selfish and un-British attitude towards Turkey and atrocities of the British officers in the Punjab has shocked the feelings of every right thinking man of the world. I was befooled by the promises made by the British Premier and committed a sin by helping him in raising a war loan, and in collecting recruits for the war against the Sultan of Turkey. In the atonement for this and as a protest against the Turkish Peace Terms and the Punjab atrocities, I hereby renounce the certificates granted in recognition of the services in connection with the war loan, and the title of Khan Sahib, and resign the honorary magistrateship and the

SYRIA UNDER FRENCH HEEL.

GENERAL GOURAUD'S DEMANDS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, July 28.
Recd. 9-30 a.m., July 30.

Paris.—A telegram from Beirut says that the French occupied Aleppo on July 23rd and entered Damascus on 25th. A new Sherifian Government has been formed and accepted General Gouraud's conditions including immediate disarmament, deposition of Emir Feisul, who has been asked to leave the country, payment of ten million francs as reparation for the damage done by guerilla warfare, the Syrian Army to be reduced and transformed into a police force, the war material to handed over to the French and the principal guilty persons to be tried by military tribunals.

of Bombay heartily supports the movement of non-cooperation, and appeals to all Muslims to observe the Third Khilafat Day on the 1st of August by suspending all business, offering prayers, keeping fasts and holding meetings.

This meeting further urges upon the title holders of Bombay to give u their titles and honorary posts for the sake of their religion.

This meeting also appeals to our Hindu brethren and other citizens of Bombay to observe the day in a suitable manner, and join the Muslims in making up non-cooperation."

(2) "This meeting urges upon the necessity of establishing a Hijrat Commitee in the town of Bombay with a view to afford facilities to those Muslims who intend undertaking Hijrat (migration) in the way of Allah under the present circumstances; that Maulana Mohammed Ismail Ghasnawi be requested to undertake to form such Committee and enlist members for it."

(3) "This meeting expresses its indignation at the behaviour of British Soldiers which led to the mratyrdom of Muhajir Habib Ullah Khan, and requests the Hijrat Committee of Peshawar to build a Shrine at his burial place and to celebrate the anniversary of his martyrdom every year."

DIFFICULTIES OE HAJEES.

(4) "This meeting expresses with deep regret that the Hajees were put to great trouble this year. There were no sufficient men for issuing passports and inaccullating the Hajees. Medical Inspection did not take place at the appointed time. Lodging arrangements were imperfect, and many Hajees had to lie on roadsides during heavy rains. There was no sufficient water supply in the Musafir Khanas. The treatment of Police towards Hajees was not desirable. Hajees were made to pay extra fees.

Infants were also charged with full rates for tickets. The Companies raised the rates of tickets at their own choice and many Hajees had to return disappointed.

The Steamer Akbar caught fire and the Hajees were kept on board the steamer for full 24 hours. The present Haj Committee, whose members are nominated by the Government took no interest in looking to the comforts of the Hajees.

In view of these incidents this meeting strongly recommends that Hon'ble Sharief Deojl be suitably thanked for his meritorious services rendered to the Hajees and that a Haj Committee of the following gentlemen to elect office-bearers among themselves with powers to add to their number be appointed to help the Hajees and to afford facilities to them:—

Seth Mian Mohamed Haji Jan Mohamed Chotani; Hon'ble Sharief Deoji Gowinji; Seth Ahmed Haji Siddick Khatri; K. B. Seth Mohammed Ali Abdul Qadir; Seth Haji Ismail Haji Ahmed; Moulvi Syed Mohammed Ismail Ghaznaw;i; Mr. Ismail A. H. Mossa; Seth Mohammed Ishaq Haji Abdullah Nurani; Seth Abdur Rahman Haji Yaqoob; Seth Abdullah Abdur Rahim; Mr. Mohammed Ismail Kertai; Seth Haji Noor Mohammed Haji Lafit; Seth Mohammed Abba Jumma; Seth Haji Ahmed Mohammed, Bhimriwala; Seth Mian Mohammed Khandwani.

(5) "This meeting recommends that with a view to strengthen Hindu-Muslim Unity the Muslims be requested not to offer Cow-sacrifice on the occasion of the next I'd Uzzuha, according as it is decided upon by the Muslims of other places in India."

(6) This meeting strongly protests against the repressive policy of the local Governments in demanding securities from the "Zemnidar" of Lahore, Alwahid of Karachi, and "Wafadar" of Nausari for their freely expresing real public opinion on the Khilafa question, and offers its heartfelt sympathy to them.

This meeting further requests its President to send the message of sympathy to the said papers.

NAURU ISLAND.

AGREEMENT BILL.

2ND READING PASSED.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL SERVICE.)

LONDON, July 29.
Recd. Midnight, July 30.

In the House of Lords Lord Milner, in the course of moving the second reading of the Nauru Island Agreement Bill, contended that it was a complete mistake to suppose that an agreement such as this needed to be submitted to the Council of League Nations. Article 22 of the Covenant was never intended to be applied to Nauru.

Lord Emott refuted the argument of Lord Milner that Government were equally entitled with private individual to make purchase, pointing out that the latter would not be a member of the League. He asked why Canada, India and South Africa should be debarred from getting any deposits. He condemned the policy as contrary to open door.

Lord Milner, replying, said that when the question of disposal of the German colonies arose there was very strong opposition in Australia, New Zealand and South Africa to mandating the territories in their immediate neighbourhood. The Dominions had shown very good reasons why contiguous territories should simply be incorporated with them. The only point on which everybody agreed was the justification for depriving Germany of her territories because of their manner in which the natives had been treated. The Dominions had replied that if the Allies were only concerned with the proper treatment of the natives they were quite willing to accept a mandate to that extent. There was no technicality. The Nauru Island and German South West Africa were deliberately handed over to the mandatories with the provisions clearly drawn that their sovereignty should not be limited except regarding the protection of the natives.

Lord Milner declared that the question with regard to the Nauru Island would never have arisen if difference had not arisen between Australia and New Zealand with regard to which would be the mandatory.

The Bill passed the second reading.

MASS MEETING IN CAWNPORE

DECIDES ON OBSERVING HARTAL.

(From a Corre.pondent.)

CAWNPORE, July 30

The citizens of Cawnpore assembled in a most successful mass meeting despite the rainy weather at Khurd Mahal Park on the 29th July and unanimously resolved to observe the 1st August as the Third Khilafat Day, when the non-cooperation movement will be inaugurated after a full day hartal. Stirring speeches were delivered and great enthusiasm prevailed. Both Hindus and Mahomedans seemed determined to follow the advice of Mahatma Gandhi and to make non-cooperation a complete success.

Some five thousand men attended the meeting, including nearly fifteen hundred women, when Seth Sundardas Valabhdas, President of the Sabha read the welcome address and Seth Narayandas Anandji, Vice President of the Sabha, presented a purse of Rs. 5.000 to Mr. Gandhi on behalf of Gujaratis residing in Karachi.

"CO-OPERATION."

"THE LASTING SOLVENT OF THE PROBLEMS OF LIFE.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE."

Sir,—The inevitable has, after all, happened. The scholars in "Bhagwat Gia," "Zenda Avesta," "The Koran" and "The Bible" have issued their spiritual manifesto against Non-Co-operation. It is a relief in these days of materialism to find Poltics spiritualised at the hands of our learned Bombay Pundits. What a revelation that "Non-Co-operation" is deprecated by the religious tennets and traditions of our Motherland! And all that to be exactly found in the Shastras of the four great religous of the world! Surely, this precious dicovery must be due to the efforts of some profound student of antiquities and archaelogical findings. We may now take heart that our Religion is habilitated in spite of Gandh and in spite of his "Gospel of Impatience."

Indeed, history repeats itself! For, we are assured that such a thing as Non-Co-operation was never in vogue before, and so it cannot be now. Or rather, it ever succeeded before, and so it cannot succed now. Unanswerable logic! Not to speak of the depths of historiecal knowledge.

A word of admiration for the sggested solvent "of the problems of life, bth individual and national," and Sir, I hav done. That mysterious solvent is so beautifdy shrouded in words artistic and intangibl that one almost falls asleep under their soporific influence. "Active, steady and institutional efforts"—sound, stable lines of onstitutional development!" Hurrah! We have got "it" after a long waiting of 35 yers! I was too timid and nervous to go uner the banner of Gandhi; I was, howev, ashamed that I could not find out a plauble pretext for my standing aloof. I had noting to suggest as an alternative. I wasone of the gropers in the dark. Fancy, just at the moment when I was praying to Heaves for Light Light came from the Bombay lumaries and the world was enlightened. I novdefy Non-Co-operation, for there is and the will be that intangible, indefinite, unknon something called "Co-operation" or "Costitutional Agitation" which eludes all definions, but which is still a reality more real than the visions of that arch "Visionary," the Preacher of "The Gospel of Impatienc"—Yours, etc.,

ANTI-NON-CO-OPERATION APPEAL.

NEW SIGNATORIES.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

BOMBAY, July 30.

The Hon. Mr. R. P. Paranjpye and Mr. J. K. Mehta, Secretary of the India Merchants' Chamber and Bureau have signed the appeal against non-cooperation issued to their fellow countrymen by Sir Narayan Chandavarker and others.

BOMBAY LIBERALS' DISAPPROVAL.

At a meeting of the Council of the Western India National Liberal Association held on 29th July, under the presidency of the Hon. Sir D. E. Wacha; the following resolutions were passed:—

(1) The Council of the Western India National Liberal Association have viewed with grave concern the open attempt of the Khilafat Committee, under the leadership of Mr. Gandhi, to carry into execution their pernicious doctrine of non-cooperation which is inimical to the vital interests of the people and threatens to be the vehicle for the active dissemination of racial bitterness. It is undistingutshable in its nature from the propaganda of civil disobedience started last year which, events have proved a disastrous failure.

(2) The Council of the Association, therefore, embrace the occasion to express their emphatic disapproval and condemnation of the propaganda of non-cooperation which is so recklessly sought to be disseminated at the very time when the people are about to enter on an era of reconstruction of the Government for their better political emancipation.

(3) The Council are of opinion that it would be a grievous decreliction of duty towards our country, if our countrymen, especially those of a better mind, Moslems included, fail at this juncture to condemn the propaganda of the Khilafat Committee in the manner it deserves.

(4) While they view with feelings of keen disappointment the proceedings in the House of Lords regarding the Punjab affairs which in the opinion of the Council has shaken the confidence of the people of this country in the British sense of justice and they earnestly urge the Secretary of State to take effective measures to allay the feelings of soreness that prevail among all classes of Indian people, to restore their confidence in British justice and to prevent the recurrence of the tragic incidence of the last year.

ALL-INDIA TRADE UNION CONGRESS.

GOVERNMENT'S REPLY TO LALA LAJPAT RAI'S NOMINATION.

MADRAS LABOUR'S SUPPORT.

The General Secretary writes:—

1. The following circular telegram has been issued to the Press:—

"All-India Trade Union Congress will be held in Bombay, August 22, 23. Lajpatrai presiding. Mr. Tilak, Mrs. Besant, Mr. Andrews and other leaders have joined as Vice-Presidents. Joseph Baptista as Chairman, Reception Committee, which has over 500 members. Object of Congress is co-ordination, Labour activities to better Labour conditions. United Bombay Labour asks every province to co-operate for achievement and preservation of workers' inherent rights. Every Union and Labour organisation is requested: firstly, to forward immediately by wire formal resolutions of affiliation to Congress; secondly, to submit before August 15 any resolutions relating to their grievances, which Unions wish to place before Congress; thirdly, to submit list of delegates; fourthly, to submit statement shewing total number of registered members as voting will go by strength of each Union. Labour must seize this opportunity and shew its solidarity, for in Union lies strength. Its long hours, low wages, horrible housing conditions are a disgrace to civilisation. Labour and its supporters must wake up to their responsibilities."

2. The following reply has been received by Mr. Joseph Baptista, President, Reception Committee, to the telegrams despatched to the Viceroy in connection with the nomination of a Labour representative to the International Labour Conference and the Commission of Inquiry:—

"Sir, I am directed to acknowledge receipt of your telegram, dated the 9th of July, 1920, to his Excellency the Viceroy regarding the nomination of Lala Lajpat Rai as the representative of Indian Labour at the International Labour Conference.

"I am to inform you that the Government of India have not yet been invited to nominate the representatives for the forthcoming Labour Conference; the action taken by the Labour, which you represent, is therefore premature.

"I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,
Secretary,
Board of Industries and Munitions."

3. In this connection it must be noted that Lala Lajpat Rai was appointed by Labour as its delegate to the panel constituted for the Commission of Inquiry as well as to the International Labour Conference. It was the action of nominating a representative without consulting Labour, to the former body that was objected to. The reply above-quoted remains silent on this point. Considering that according to a Government communiqué nomination to the Commission of Inquiry panel had to be made before July 10, it can hardly be said that Labour's move in appointing Lala Lajpat Rai instead of Mr. N. M. Joshi was "premature."

4. The following important telegram has been received from Mr. N. S. Ramaswami Iyenger, President, Coimbatore-Podanur Unions:—

"6,000 members support Congress. Agitate railway concessions for delegates." At a public meeting at Madras attended by Mrs. Besant and Mr. Eardley Norton a resolution was also passed stating that at least 20 labourers should be sent as delegates to the Trade Union Congress.

"DAILY MAIL'S" REPORT.

(REUTER'S TEEGRAM.)

LONDON, July 29.
Recd. Midnight, July 30.

The "Daily Mail" learns from Teheran that there is a persistent but unconfirmed report current that Americans have offered Persia a large loan. Meanwhile the Persian Cabinet has requested the British financial adviser and staff not to attend their office. This means that the Anglo-Persian Agreement of August 9th, 1919 is shelved until the Mejliss assembles.

IRISH DISORDERS.

"MOST DRASTIC" BILL TO BE PASSED.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, July 29.
Recd. Midnight July 30.

Mr. Bonar Law announced that the bill dealing with disorders in Ireland would be introduced and passed on August 5th and 6th.

Replying to a very large deputation of members of the Houses of Lords and Commons who waited on Mr. Lloyd George on the subject of Ireland, the Prime Minister invited them to await introduction of the above-mentioned legislation, which would be most drastic. Whatever happened, Ireland could not be allowed to leave the Empire. He denied the report that armed guards were no longer provided for the government munitions sent by the railway. He declared that the railwaymen refusing to convey military goods, troops and police continued to be instantly dismissed.

TRIAL OF SINN FEINERS.

JUDGES DECLINE TO SERVE.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, July 29.
Recd. Midnight, July 30.

According to the "Daily Mail", all Irish Judges fearing violence have declined to serve on the proposed emergency courts intended for the trial of Sinn Feiners. English judges are also reluctant to sit. The Government may therefore be obliged to abandon their scheme.

Great Britain sent a preliminary enquiry to Mosocow yesterday on the subject of the ambiguities in Tchitcherin's note with regard to the powers to be represented at the Russo-Polish Conferenc.

BRITISH REPLY TO TCHITCHERIN.

ALLIES' AGREEMENT.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, July 29.
Recd. Midnight July 30.

In the House of Commons, replying to Mr. Asquith with regard to the Boulogne Conference, Mr. Lloyd George emphasised that the Allies, were in complete agreement with regard to the British reply to Tchitcherin's telegram of July 24th. The Premier proceeded to read the reply, which stated tha the British Government assuming that a Russo-Polish armistice was about to be concluded proposed that the Allies should participate in the conference in London at which the Soviet should also be represented. The reply urged that no doubt should be left with regard to the object of the meeting of the Powers, which would be summoned to attend and the essential subjects of discussion.

It was pointed out that the two last telegrams from the Soviet left some doubt in this connection. The reply said that the British Government considered that the Allies were to meet the Soviet delegates with any chance of success the delegates from Poland and other border states concerned must also be present. The essential object of the conference must be to re-establish peace in Europe and firstly between Poland and Russia on conditions securing the independence of Poland and legitimate interests of both the countries. The Conference should also consider the questions still outstanding between the Soviet and border states, which had not yet signed definite Peace with Russia. After a settlement of these questions, the Conference would deal with the disputes between the Soviet and Allies and re-establishment of normal relations between them.

Replying to Lord Robert Cecil with regard to the crushing terms which the Soviet was said to have submitted to Poland, Mr. Lloyd George said he could not believe that such preposterous terms could be suggested.

A PREVIOUS DESPATCH.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, July 29.
Recd. Midnight July 30.

Besides the despatch to Russia read by Mr. Lloyd George in the House of Commons the text is published to-night of a previous despatch of July 26th, in which the British Government, in view of Russia's reply with reference to armistice with Poland offers to facilitate the journey of the Soviet trade delegates to England and suggests that they should also be authorised to discuss preliminary arrangements for the proposed Peace Conference. The despatch repudiates responsibility for Gen. Wrangel's offensive. It characterises as absurd the Soviet suggestion of British designs on the Crimea.

UNITED TEXTILE WORKERS.

DEMAND A ROYAL COMMISSION.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL SERVICE.)

LONDON, July 28.
Recd. Midnight, July 30.

The United Textile Factory Workers' Association at conference in Blackpool unanimously recommended Government to appoint a royal commission to enquire into the position and conditions of the cotton trade and instructed the legislative council to press the question of paying holiday wages and to co-operate with other trades unions, using either political or industrial methods to achieve their object.

CABLE ITEMS.

The Food Ministry estimates that the total of imported butter available on March 31, 1921 will not exceed £90,000. The Food Ministry continues to be the sole purchaser of imports. The opinion is expressed that although free market might bring more supplies, the price will increase to 4 to 5 shillings per bound.

LONDON, July 28.—The King has awarded the Albert Medal to Gharis Shah for gallantry in saving from drowning at least thirty pilgrims at the fair at Mariana on June 3, 1919.

The King, on July 28, received Sir and Lady Mirza Afsur-ul-Mulk, who are proceeding to India shortly.

Mr. Illingworth has issued a statement to the effect that in 1919 629,571 telegrams were exchanged between Englad and India, of which 71,142 were Government messages which did not necessarily take priority over private telegrams except in urgent cases.

CEYLON'S REFORMED COUNCIL.

CHANGES IN CONSTITUTION.

GOVERNOR'S EXTRAORDINARY POWERS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, July 28.
Recd. 9-30 a.m., July 30.

Replying in the House of Commons to Col. Wedgwood, Mr. Amery outlined the changes in the constitution of Ceylon, giving a large measure of popular control over the administration which Lord Milner had decided to recommend to H. M. the King. He said it was proposed to alter the constitution of the Legislative Council by considerably extending popular election of members and giving the unofficial members a substantial majority over official vote. Excluding the Governor, who would preside, the Reformed Council would consist of thirty-seven members comprising, fourteen officials and twenty-three unofficials. Sixteen and subsequently nineteen unofficial members would be elected, of whom two would represent the Europeans and one the Burghers. In order to prevent deadlocks in essential matters the Governor would be empowered to declare the passing of any measure of paramount importance, whereupon the measure might be carried by the votes of the official members. The Governor would also be empowered to prevent proceedings in Council with regard to any measure affecting the safety and tranquillity of Ceylon. Three unofficial members of the Executive Council would be appointed.

HOOLIGANISM AT KURLA.

GYMNASIUM BULLIES PUNISHED.

(From a Correspondent.)

BANDRA, July 26.

Luxooman Shivrani, Ramchunder Ganpat and five others were last month convicted by Mr. D. K. Desai, First Class Resident Magistrate, Bandra, of the offence of voluntarily causing hurt to Narayen Luxooman of Kurla. As the two first accused were the chief offenders, they were sentenced to six weeks' rigorous imprisonment each, and accused Nos. 3 to 7 to pay a fine of Rs. 25 each or in the alternative to suffer rigorous imprisonment for a month each. Accused belonged to one gang and as his Worship thought that it was necessary that they should be bound over to keep the peace each of the accused was ordered to furnish security for Rs. 25 with one surety for the like amount for six months.

Against these convictions and sentences the accused appealed to the Sessions Judge, Thana, Mr. Taleyarkhan.

The punishment meted out to the accused by the Magistrate, was for a cowardly assault committed by them on February 21 last on the complainant Narayen Luxooman of Kurla, because he belonged to the Mania Gymnasium, while all the accused were members of the rival Takya Gymnasium.

The learned Sessions Judge in recently confirming the convictions and sentences recorded against the appellants in the course of his judgment observed that, in his opinion the Magistrate had correctly appreciated the evidence of the four eye-witnesses and had rightly convicted all the accused and that the order requiring them to furnish security was justified by the circumstances of the case. The appeal was therefore dismissed.

Mr. Pandurang V. Patil appeared for the appellants, while the Public Prosecutor Mr. S. K. Bhagvat represented the Crown in the Appeal Court.

Last week Mr. Jal Tehsildar, a Parsi resident of Bandra was charged by Sergeant Herries, of the Bandra Police, before Mr. Desai, First Class Resident Magistrate, with rash driving of his motor cycle on the Hill Road. He was fined Rs. 15. He had two previous convictions of this nature.

KARNATAK NON-BRAHMIN SOCIAL CONFERENCE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

HUBLI, July 29.

The Karnatic non-Brahmin Social Conference came to a close this evening. After lunch the Conference passed half a dozen resolutions, among them being recording sincere appreciation of the valuable services of H. E. Sir George Lloyd rendered to the labouring classes at the time when strikes and passive resistance had rendered the situation very serious and might surely have resulted in lamentable consequences, had it not been for His Excellency's tactful handling and timely interference and urging that as labour is passing through a very delicate period of transition and under powers given bp the Government of India Act many complicated questions of social reform are bound to come up for solution, His Excellency should not be allowed by His Majesty to lay down the reins of office before this critical period in the history of the masses, especially of the labouring classes had passed away.

Other resolutions urged the non-Brahmins to develope female education to use their influence against early marriage, to do away with caste dikerence and promote unity and brotherhood amongst themselves, to put a stop to the evil of drinking and expressed deep abhorrence at the unjust and inhuman treatment accorded to the depressed classes and appealed to the non-Brahmins to elevate these classes and to remove untouchability. Another resolution protested against the judicial sanction given by the Bombay courts to vrithis given to priests and prayed to Government to introduce legislation invalidating Vrithis.

SOVIET'S ORDER FOR TRUCE.

RUSSIAN COMMANDERS DISINCLINED.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL SERVICE.)

LONDON, July 28.
Recd. 12-15 a.m., July 30.

A telegram from Berlin says that the Russian commanders are disinclined to cease hostilities in accordance with the Soviet's orders owing to the Tsarist officers who are present with troops and who are leading the Russian Nationalists. Failing to win Allied help they have established an organisation in Berlin which is endeavouring to secure the co-operation of the German reactionaries, who welcome the alliance hoping thereby to regain power and acquire political and economic predominance over Russia.

SOLVING EASTERN EUROPE QUESTION.

VON SIMSON'S SPEECH AT REICHSTAG.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL SERVICE.)

LONDON, July 28.
Recd. 12-15 a.m., July 30.

Paris.—In a speech in the Reichstag on the necessity for Germany to participate in the support of Poland. He added that he was curious to see whether the Entente would repeat the mistake made at Versailles of endeavouring to solve the Eastern Europe question without Germany. If so, he believed Eastern peace would be more unstable than Versailles peace ever could become.

LONDON, July 28.
Recd. 9-30 a.m., July 30.

Warsaw.—A communique says:—Despite the acceptance of the Polish proposal for an armistice the Bolsheviks have resumed violent attacks on the whole front capturing various points to the east of the Galician frontier and advancing twenty kilometres south of Grodno.

ROYAL AMNESTY.

IS IT PARDON OF OFFENCE OR REMISSION OF SENTENCE?

(From our own Correspondent.)

LAHORE, July 29.

Regarding Colonel Wedgwood's motion for elimination of the clause affecting the eligibility of persons against whom conviction is subsisting for election to new councils and the effect of this rule on the Punjab leaders, who were sentenced last year by Martial Law tribunals, the question naturally arises whether the royal amnesty should be interpreted as a pardon of offence or merely as a remission of sentence. No authoritative declaration on matter is yet available, nor is it known what assurance Mr. Montagu gave to Colonel Wedgwood, which led the latter to withdraw his motion. It may however, be mentioned that the High Court raised no objection to either Dr. Kitchlew, Mr. Dunichand, Mr. Labh Singh, or other leader so convicted, resuming their practice and this fact may lend colour to the view that the High Court gave a liberal interpretation to the royal amnesty and did not view it as mere remission of sentence.

EXECUTION OF SPA AGREEMENT.

TO BE ENSURED BY REPARTION COMMISSION.

WITHDRAWAL OF ANGLO-ITIAN TROOPS IN E. PRUSSIA DEFEED.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, July 28.
Recd. 12-40 p.m., July 30

Paris.—The Poulogne Conference decided that the Reparations Commission shall be instructed to ensure the execution of Spa Agreement relative to coal. Germa is handing over on September 1st to the Commission, Treasury Bonds to the value sixty million marks gold falling due on May 1st 1921 with interest at six per cent.

The Conference confirmed the decision of the Paris Conference of Ambassadors defer the withdrawal of the British and Italian troops from the plebiscite districts in Eastern Prussia and also instructed General Weygand, the Allied High Commissioner at Danzig to prevent Allied help to Poland from being jeopardized by political acts like the dockers' strike.

French circles are most satisfied with the results of the Conference which are considered to correspond to French wishes.

Berlin.—The Reichstag has approved the Spa agreement by an overwhelming majority.

THE CALL OF THE COUNTRY.

BY ANNIE BESANT.

Mrs. Annie Besant writes in "New India":

During the last seven years a tremendous struggle has been going on between the forces which work for the evolution of humanity into a higher stage of evolution, and those which work for its arrest in its present, if possible for its retrogression into a lower stage, presaging the decay of the races which now occupy the earth, and the beginning again of the long climb upwards through a time of ignorance and semi-barbarism. The world has known such periods before, times tumultuous periods of swift transition, when everything moves by catastrophes and cataclysms, and men's hearts fail them for fear and for looking on the things that are coming upon the earth. In such times—as the Hindu Puranas and other world-scriptures tell us—the superhuman Powers, that work for the progress and for the holding back of mankind, meet in deadly combat, and although the triumph is ever with those who co-operate with "the Power that makes for righteousness," they have so far ultimately been compelled to succeed only by the destruction of those who, in the world of men, embodied the principles of materialism and selfish aggrandisement. History shows us the sepulchres of great past civilisations, buried in the earth over which they once ruled, which were overthrown by virile barbarians, and because of their corruption and their cruelty were swept away too completely to transmit to their destroyers any of the treasures of learning and science which their ruins prove them to have possessed. The ball has ever been rolled downwards when near the summit, and the Sisyphus of Humanity has ever been compelled to begin again, at the foot of the hill, his aeonian toil.

In such a period of transition we stand to-day, and so far the Powers of Good have triumphed; autocracy is struck down; materialism is tottering to its fall; science, its mainstay, is changing its attitude, and is beginning to be once more the explainer of religion, Mysticism is assuming its true place. But the triumph is incomplete, for the subtle poison-gas of autocracy, race-arrogance and cruelty has entered into the blood of those who whilom fought on the side of Righteousness and Liberty—for "where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is Liberty"—and we see it in the grasping at "mandates" to slay the Self-Determination for which they fought, and to exploit for themselves the riches of the countries where they broke the yoke of tyrants, less hypocritical, but also less emasculating, than themselves; we see it also in the resurrection of Prussian methods of terrorism in India, in the "frightfulness" of the O'Dwyers, Dyers, Johnsons, O'Briens, Bosworth-Smiths, in the language of the Sydenhams, Ampthills and their like in the House of Lords, and in its final vote, charged with the autocracy, race-arrogance and cruelty for which Germany was struck down in the height of her power. These petty imitators of giant evil-doers have no place in the New World.

It seems to be still doubtful, so far as Europe is concerned, whether the conquered and broken countries which fought to perpetuate the Past will be able to survive or will perish. 80 per cent. of their children, we are told, are diseased, a method of destruction as complete as the whelming of Atlantis. But the knowledge which their fathers did so much to gain is not destroyed with them, and unless the victors die of the poison-gas in their blood, they can carry it on to the new civilisation and save the world from a weary re-beginning. But the hope of the West is in the working-classes—especially in Great Britain where they are disciplined and trained—in the highly-educated and socialist portion of the middle and upper classes, and in the few who shine out like stars in the latter, noble in mind as in birth. It may be said that their words are fair as were those of the others before the War, and that they may be as bad as their predecessors in the days when they wield power. That may be so; but in them lies the only hope of the West. If they fail, the doom of Sisyphus presses once more that of Western Humanity.

Art in the East? India is here the World's Hope. India alone can bring to the West the healing balm of Spirituality, and so turn the steps of the world away from the gulf of Materialism into which it will otherwise fall. India alone, with her profound Science of the Spirit and her limitless Devotion, Brahmavidya and Bhakti, can satisfy at once the Intellect and the Emotions. India, who alone has survived every ancient civilisation that was her contemporary, who alone has been dogged with the enervating soporific of western luxury and selfishness and has awaked, throbbing with rejuvenated life, India alone can redeem the world from the chaos in which western civilisation is perishing. For this did she contact Great Britain, for this did she, the free-born Mother of the Aryan Race, pass through the Gethsemane of betrayal and subjugation, hang on the cross as a subject race, jeered at by the rough barbarians of haughty militarism. For this she must have her Resurrection into Freedom, and from within her sepulchre, closed with the heavy stone of bondage, she calls to her children to roll away the stone, that she may come forth with the Angel of Liberty at her side.

Who will answer the call? Everything seems against her. The Turkish troubles. The Panjab troubles. The battle cry of Non-co-operation, reducing her to impotence or anarchy. The blindness of her British rulers, refusing to loose the bandages of the grave-clothes on her limbs, the coercive legislation of a past which belongs to the tomb and should be left therein. The wickedness of the Commons' minority and the Lords' majority, feeble and malignant cries of the poison-gas in their blood. Cannot India's sons see that these are the dying struggles of the Past, its last struggles, the effort of the Powers of the Darkness to yet entangle the Sons of the Light? The very difficulties that cow the weak, the self-seeking, the cowardly, the supine, nerve the hero-souls to new efforts and new sacrifices. Will not India's sons answer the Call of the Mother? Will they let India, who is the Hope of the World, the Builder of the Future, be flung into the whirlpool of Revolution or on the rocks of Despair? I cannot believe it. I will not believe it. For I believe in the greatness of the Aryan Mother, and in the answer of her sons to her Call.

BRITAIN'S FINANCE.

REACHES LIMIT OF TAXABLE CAPACITY.

MR. ASQUITH ON WASTE AND EXTRAVAGANCE.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, July 28.
Recd. 9-30 a.m., July 30.

On the third reading of the Finance Bill in the House of Commons, Mr. Asquith contended that the wasteful and extravagant expenditure was to be attributed more to the Government's policy than to administration. He gave Mesopotamia, as an example, the estimates for which had recently been largely reduced, but where forces were now being increased.

Mr. Chamberlain agreed that Britain had about reached the limit of her taxable capacity. He pointed out that the expenditure in 1918/19 was £3,446 millions reduced to £2,106 millions last year and to £1,282 millions this year. He believed it would be an ignoble and foolish policy to give up all the care for Mesopotamia and Palestine and abandon our responsibilities elsewhere. We should purchase neither security nor economy thereby. The Government had gone as near to rationing the Army, the Navy and the Air Force as was possible in the world, where we were not masters of events.

The third reading was agreed to.

ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.

"THE CONQUEROR.

Because Sam Houston had been raised in the mountains, he had little or no education. When his father died, Sam felt as if he had lost the last friend he had in the world. He still had the Indians, among whom he had lived since the earliest dawn of consciousness.

The city was not far from where Sam lived. He made frequent trips to it, and that was how he came to meet Eliza Allen.

It was a case of love at first sight. The rough backwoodsman thought he had never seen anything quite so lovely as the dainty little blonde of the city. He was sure he had never seen anything quite so haughty. When she discovered that he was so ignorent that he could neither read nor write, it meant for her the end of their acquaintanceship. Sam thereupon began his education.

One day soon after Eliza had learned this awful truth Sam went to see her. She could not bear the thought of receiving such a person, so she told her negro mammy to tell Sam that she could not see him because she was "constrainedly unable". The negro mammy did not tell Sam this. She told him that her mistress had said she could not see him until he "strained to be constable."

Sam decided to become constable.

He asked a friend how to attain this valued position, and the friend replied laconically "Drinks and votes". There was one way out of the difficulty; "Drinks and votes."

Whiskey was dear in the Tennessee of 1825. When Sam bagged a silver fox and sold its skin for a handful of silver, he found that he had money enough for only a few votes. But his despair was short lived. Teddy, his dog, seemed to sense that his master needed money so he quietly slipped the fox skin from the shop of the dealer who had bought it and brought it back to Sam.

Sam sold it again.

He bought more whiskey and more votes. When the skin was returned once more in the faithful teeth of Teddy, Sam bought more whiskey and more votes. So he kept it up, until finally he had sold that one fox skin often enough to elect him constable.

When he went to see Eliza. The mammy answered the door again.

"Tell your mistress I am a constable now," said Sam, "and I am ready to wait upon her."

But Eliza only laughed at Mammy, sent down a message that she would not receive until he was sheriff, and returned to her knitting.

When Sam became Sheriff he finally gained admittance into the sacred quarters. When he asked Eliza to marry him, she replied "I will when you become Governor".

Sam became Governor.

Then Eliza married him. But he had become incensed by her repeated refusals, and when she finally became his wife, he threw her aside and joined the settlers in Texas. Eliza, life, followed him, and took refuge in a convent.

Sidney Stokes, had for many years been an aspirant to the hand of Eliza. There was something about his eyes which the girl did not like and though she had been kind to him she had steadily refused him. When his insistence became nothing short of insulting and he was forced to defend himself with a pistol, Sidney fled into the night outlawed. He took with him an undying hatred against Sam, his successful rival.

When Sam was elected Governor, Sidney was busy inciting the Mexicans against Texas.

Soon after Sam came to Texas the invaders crossed the boundary. Sam led the Americans in their resistance to the Mexicans. A great battle took place.

Sam found the Indians to be his allies once more. Stokes and his men were steadily repulsed. The crisis of the border warfare was reached when the Mexicans, incited by Stokes, attacked the convent in which a helpless handful of nuns was living. Sam rushed to the rescue. The Mexicans and Indians battled hand to hand.

In Eliza's room Sam met Sidney. The fight that ensued was terrific. Sam won and took Eliza back to his home.

LATE R. B. ANANDRAO R. TALCHERKAR

(From a Correspondent.)

The death of Rao Bahadur Anandrao Ramkrishna Talcherkar, J.P., a leading Maratha citizen of Bombay, took place last Monday, the 26th instant, at Indore. The deceased rendered valuable services during the Abyssinian, Malta and Afghan expeditions and was praised by Government for his work in the Transport section.

He worked as a Councillar of the Bandra Municipality, member of the Thana Local Board and Chairman of the Schools Committee Bandra for some time. He founded the Cosmopolitan Club in Bombay and worked as its hon. secretary. In the early nineties he was intimately associated with the late R. B. Lokhande in his campaign for the betterment of the working classes which culminated in the appointment of the 1st Factory Commission. R. B. Talcherkar was a regular contributor to the "Din Bandhu" a journal devoted to the interests of the working classes.

DEPORTATION OF A GERMAN PRIEST

STRONG OPPOSITION IN MELBOURNE.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, July 28.
Recd. 12-40 p.m., July 30

Melbourne.—The Commonwealth Government recently ordered the deportation of Father Jerger, a German priest. The deportation has been opposed with determination in the Law Courts and the Seamens Union has hitherto refused to assist it. It is believed that Father Jerger's supporters will endeavour to effect his release when he reaches Colombo.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

PRESENT-DAY ASPECT.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

POONA, July 29.

His Excellency Sir George Lloyd, in speaking at the New Poona College, dealt with the question of technical education and its present day aspect and said, "India is now in economic competition with great industrial countries of the world and the generation that is growing up must be equipped for this competition. For no great industrial concern can prosper without good material from which to take its staff and that condition can never be attained unless certain proportion of her young men receive technical education equal in quality to that which is obtainable in the foremost industrial countries. The parents, who are sending their boys to the schools, shoulder great responsibility if they do not consider the possibilities of each of the many professions that are open to them and the public as a body shoulder greater responsibility still if they do not take their share in meeting all those educational problems the solution of which will make it possible for this country not only to supply the personnel for various services of the Government and to hold their own in great professions of Medicine and Law, but also to manage and to staff great industrial concerns which alone can exploit to the full the great potential wealth of the country."

THRILLER CERTAIN TO HOLD INTEREST FROM FIRST TO LAST!

DONT MISS IT!

Can you solve the mystery of the Grimson Gardenia? Do you know who murdered Emile Re Duc? Who were the masked and hooded men who hunted and haunted Roland yan Dan? See all this in this Pholoplay.

Mr. Beach appeals strongly to men with his virility, depicting of true American masculine types, his "punch" and his fight scenes. His works are replete with suspense—the kind that makes the audience sit on the edge of their seats and gasp—in addition to a certain quality of human sympathy lacking in many others of the day.

"THE CRIMSON GARDENIA"
(6000 feet.)
a picturisation of one of his widely-read works, its delicate human touches, stirring suspense, carefully wrought climax, unusual scenic beauty, and excellent all-star cast, could only be the work of Rex Beach, peer of American Novelists.

Every human element is dwelt up an in "The Grimson Gardenia;" with details intimately worked out by Director Reginaid Barker for Goldwyn; the raid on the coxnterfeiter's den, the thrilling street, between the denizens of the law and the under. world gangsters, and at length the colorful Mardi Gras with its scenes of merrymaking and its worldwide are appeal.

(New Charney Road.)

AS OTHERS SEE US.

(BY AN ONLOOKER.)

The average man regards official records, reports and the like with a horror and detestation which are almost comic in their intensity, based as they are upon one of the really profound emotions of our age and time: the dread of being bored. (That dread is the impelling power behind a surprising proportion of latter-day, urban activities, and the prime factor in enterprises employing thousands of millions sterling. It is even responsible for an appreciable amount of crime, and a quite incalculable amount of unhappiness.) Well, speaking from the vantage point of a fairly catholic taste in belles lettres and an unashamed weakness for the picturesque, I yet could place my hand upon my heart and declare that I have found much absorbingly interesting reading among official records, and that the most interesting of the lot have been Indian. The assertion invites the jeers of the conventionally irreverent, but that in no wise affects its perfect truth.

Bombay Records.

Just recently, encouraged thereto, perhaps, by showers and by overcast skies, I have been leisurely devoting some otherwise idle hours to a prospecting tour among a fractional section of Bombay's modern official publications, and have been impressed by their modest worth, their comparatively unencumbered informativeness, and the monumental amount of quiet, honest, progressive, serviceable and en[illegible]ly non-spectacular work which they sent and record. I am perfectly [illegible]ced that the average member of the [illegible]-dried bureaucracy", himself, has no [illegible]a of the immense amount of construct[illegible] work accomplished by the machine of which he forms a part. He cannot possibly appreciate the bigness of it, for he is much too busy in his own little corner of the machine shop. But the man who—after honest investigation of these papers—pronounces them devoid of interest and romance simply does not know what romance means. That is the conclusion I reached.

In this connexion, by the way, it is surprising how very cheap the conventional sneers at Government are made, to appear when one delves among the naked facts, so soberly set forth in official records. For example, in the eyes of the informed, the "Times of India" rather covered itself with ridicule the other day by its absurd misstatements in a pert little leaderette headed "Telephone to Poona", which was freely sprinkled with stereotyped gibes at the "Circumlocution Office", etc. Naturally, Government has no time for noticing such pin-pricks, or they might well point out that even circumlocution is vastly preferable to irrelevant mis-statement. The pert leaderette stated that for several months past telephonic communication had been established between Madras and Ootacamund, and that "only Bombay of the capital cities was left with a telephonic area of a paltry few miles." It would have been difficult to pack more gratuitous and egregious mis-statement into so small a compass, as the records show. The facts are that we have three trunk lines connecting Bombay and Poona, and are well advanced in the matter of material and work for the establishment of lines linking up Bombay with such centres as Ahmedabad. Madras is not connected with Ootacamund by telephone at all, and Calcutta (another city referred in the leaderette with the grossest inaccuracy), has only one trunk line which connects it with the coal-fields.

Post War Accomplishment.

One other observation, in passing: Bombay's record of constructive official work since the end of the war, considered in the light of all the innumerable attendant difficulties, is merely amazing. No lesser word will serve; it really is astonishing. It moves me to the profoundest admiration, and I should suppose it beats every other part of India "out of sight." I really should like to tempt into cursory examination of this matter, some of the many good people who vaguely connect the work of Government with ornamental tamasaa, ceremonial, and occasional debates; not to mention the smaller but more vocal section who appear to think of Government as a kind of blend of Rip van Winkle, Machiavelli, Herod and Shylock, with a pronounced taste for heartless tyranny, and pitiless blood-sucking. I would not for the world pretend my cursory browsings—to dust on the shelves was rather filling—have enlightened me as to causes; but I do assert without fear of contradiction that, under the regime of Sir George Lloyd or authorities have accomplished a perfect[illegible] amazing amount of constructive work for the benefit of the public of the Presidency since the end of the war. I paid scant heed, I fear to legislative accomplishment, but to the matter of work for the people which can be seen, touched and felt—roads, bridges, hospitals, institutions educational and otherwise, the easing of physical burdens, and the practical planning of concrete progress—the record is extraordinarily fine.

What is a Leader?

Mention of Bombay's Governor reminds me of an overheard conversation between two men, one apparently nearing the end, and the other very near the beginning of their respective careers. Said the young one:

"I see his Excellency has been saying that what we chiefly need in India is leaders. Now, I should have thought that was our one surplus, and that we should gain immensely if ninety per cent. of our supply fell into the ranks. We surely cannot want more leaders?"

"H'm"! replied the senior, reflectively. "Did you read his Excellency's speech at Dharwar, may I ask?"

"Oh, well, no. I can't say I read the speech, but I read that statement about it in a paragraph somewhere.'

"Yo-es. That's the worst of these paragraphs, isn't it? They may spare your mental digestion, only there's not much nutriment about them. However, I see your point. Only, of course, it depends on what you mean by leaders.' I fancy his fluency meant—leaders, you know. In fact to tell you the truth, I know he did. I didn't read the paragraph, but I was at the Karnatic College, and I heard the speech; a fine, vigorous, inspiring speech it was too. Yes, he meant well, leaders. You know; not a bit what you mean. He also said:

"Men possessing force of character, and the calm outlook; not necessarily well equipped with parchment proofs of classic attainment, but with broad sense, knowledge of the world, and, above all, with definite aims and fixed principles, and the moral courage to state and abide by them, whether they are in accord with the popular feeling of the moment or not.' He said that. I made a note of several things on my cuff. And I think you may take it from me that we need that kind of leaders rather badly in India to-day, and that no country in the world has any surplus of them.

"I see."

I wonder if you do. Anyhow, his Excellency had no thought in his mind of the sort of people you call leaders."

The Spirii of Hate.

The following extract from the letter of a correspondent in Sind seems to me to have public interest:—

"It has been [illegible] I regard as my good fortune to know [illegible] friends a number of leaders in such [illegible] causes as those of the Khilafat and Home [illegible]rule for India, whose views are generally regarded as extreme. I found myself in sympathy both with them and with their views. Whether or not these leaders are extreme I do not know. Neither do I greatly care. They seem to me to be natural, just and worthy views, and I respect these holders of them who are my friends. But,—and this point represents the crux of the thoughts which have troubled me a good deal of late—these so-called extreme friends of mine, ardently as they believe in and work for such causes as those mentioned, cherish no more hatred of Government for the English, for the Allies, or for Western people's civilization, than, for myself. I am certain of that. But I cannot disguise from myself the fact that others who share their political views have of late allowed themselves to become [illegible] saturated with the spirit of hatred, malice and uncharitableness, that they have positively left their original political aims and fall into quite a secondary place. Among them, and I fear among those whom they influence, the important political aims regarding which I have found myself so easily and naturally in sympathy with my friends, have actually almost been forgotten, in the feverish heat of their hatred and desire to stir up hatred against the British. Gradually, this disease—for it seems to me nothing less—has developed into hatred of all constituted authority. I have spent hours listening to speeches, in which positively no other end than this has been served; the desire to stir up animosity, resentment, contempt, revolt and hatred, against every known form of constituted authority. It really is a disease; a lamentable form of hysteria, often accompanied by fears, and sweating and tremors of agitation.

Effects on The Community.

"What I am concerned about is the effect of the conduct and efforts of those bitten by this disease, upon the community at large; but especially upon the simple, the ignorant, the illiterate majority. I can see that my friends who share these extreme political views are aware of the evil effects of the disease, and lament it even as I do. But they take no step towards checking it. I suppose it is difficult for them, without an appearance of luke-warmness in the matter of ends which I know are dear to them. But surely the biggest men in these movements, the leaders in Bombay, Calcutta, Lahore, Madras, etc., surely they cannot be aware of the deadly progress being made under cover of the views they hold, in this deadly pestilence of hatred. Or can it be that they also are infected by it, and are themselves becoming submerged in the mire of hate, to the point at which other aims and ends cease to be important? If that be so we have reached a sorry day for India, which is like to mark the beginning of a period of retrogression rather than of progress and reform. But surely it cannot be so?

Appeal to Leaders.

"What I know is that this gospel of hate the spread of which I regard as a pestilence more virulent than the plague, is producing deadly effects among people who to my certain knowledge were good and worthy citizens, but a short while ago. And I submit that if the political leaders in these different movements are true men and patriots it is more than time they cried a halt, warned their followers, and set to work to eradicate a pest which will otherwise devour them, and put India's clock back a generation or more before this year is out.

"Mere angry, insensate hate never accomplished any good thing in this world and never will. Hate of the English, of their friends in the world, in other words, of Western civilization—for that is what the disease produces in simple minds—quite certainly cannot help us towards Indian Home Rule or a solution of the Khilafat question; but, rather must tend to thrust the former into the remote distance, and demonstrate India's utter incompetence to judge or exercise sane influence in the latter; besides humiliating India's peoples in the world's eyes, and strangling its prosperity and progress.

Some Examples.

"Lest you should suppose I take an exaggerated view of these matters. I enclose a few newspaper cuttings taken during the past week or two. These I think illustrate alike the extent of the disease, and the fundamental simplicity of its victims. You will see that the unreasoning spirit of hatred against the British, goes so far as to embrace entire nations, merely because of their known friendship with Britain, and to include support and advocacy of causes and peoples in themselves fundamentally antagonistic to India and the Indian peoples, merely because these are recognised as anti-British. Such sentences as the following are both typical, and intensely charged with the virus of this pestilence:—

'No wonder if the London Government trembles at the Bolshevik propaganda, as it is likely to suffer most from the fruition of Bolshevik activities which are set afloat expressly to inflict injury on the British Government. [illegible] insecurity prevailing now in Egypt and Mesopotamia is an open evidence of same.'

"But you will find the same ghoulishness in one form or another in the other cuttings. Surely the real leaders cannot realise properly the infinite evil that is being wrought under their banners by the formidable danger to India of the extension and spread of this pestilence of unreasoning hatred."

The cuttings referred to are certainly a compact of uncharitableness and what this correspondent calls "ghoulishness." I have quoted at length from his letter, because it does seem to me to [illegible] matter of general interest and serious import to the public.

HARTAL
ON 1ST AUGUST.
PROTEST
Against Turkish Treaty.
PRAYERS & MEETINGS.

Although every effort is being made "to secure revision of the Peace Terms, it appears to be almost certain that it will not come before the first of August next. The Committee desires to mark the sacred character of the forthcoming demonstration of Non-Co-operation in a fitting manner. It also wishes to gauge the public feeling in the matter. The Committee, therefore, seeks the co-operation of Hindus and other Non-Moslem Communities in making the inauguration a complete success.

(1) The Committee advise full hartal on the first of August. Mill-hands, however, are requested not to abstain from work, unless they receive permission from their employers, nor should all those abstain who are required, for absolutely necessary day-to-day work, viz., hospital men, sanitary men and dock labourers. (2) The day should be devoted to prayer. All those, who can, should fast for the day. (3) Meetings should be held all over country not excluding the smallest village at which the following resolution should be adopted with or without speeches.

THE RESOLUTION.

"This meeting held at———of the inhabitants records its full sympathy with the movement of the Central Khilafat Committee in order to secure revision of the Turkish Peace Terms, consistently with Muslim sentiment and Islamic Law and approves of Non-Co-operation adopted by the Central Khilafat Committee to be continued till the Peace Terms are revised. This meeting respectfully urges the Imperial Government in the interest of the Empire which they are supposed to represent to secure a just revision of the Terms which have been universally condemned as unjust and manifestly in breach of Ministerial declarations". The resolution should be sent to his Excellency the Viceroy with a covering letter requesting him to forward the same to the Imperial Government. The Central Khilafat Committee should be advised of the passing of the resolution and of its despatch.

NOT A MOVEMENT OF CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE.

N. B.—There should be no processions. Speeches should be restrained. It is expected that meetings everywhere will be very largely attended. All police and other Governmental instructions or regulations should be strictly, and scrupulously, obeyed. No meetings should be held where there is any written prohibition. It cannot be too often urged that the whole success of the Movement depends upon perfect peace being observed by the community and complete obedience being rendered to police instructions in connection with the movement. It should be clearly understood that this is not a movement of Civil Disobedience. What should be done when unreasonable orders are issued interfering with the liberty of the subject will be considered on the merits by the Committee.

RENOUNCE TITLES.

It is expected that all title holders, Honorary Magistrates, Justices of Peace, Members of the Legislative Councils, who feel about this important question affecting the well-being of millions of Muslims, and who are in sympathy with the movement, will surrender their titles or honorary posts on this day.

WHY BE SKINNY?

IT'S EASY TO BE PLUMP, POPULAR AND ATTRACTIVE.

It's easy to be plump, popular and attractive, instead of being thin, angular and scraggy. Almost invariably the trouble is due to weak nerves and consequent failure to assimilate your food. You may eat heartily, but owing to the lack of nervous energy and impoverished blood you don't get the benefit from the food you eat. All of this can be remedied very quickly by taking with each meal a five-grain tablet of Bitro-Phosphate. This quickly strengthens the nervous system, enriches the blood, and increases its oxygen-carrying power, and in a remarkably short time the average thin, weak nervous man or woman begins not only to put on flesh, but also to look and feel better. Sleep, appetite, strength and endurance are improved, dull eyes become bright, and unless afflicted with some organic complaint, there is no reason why, if you take Bitro-Phosphate regularly, you should not soon look and feel much better and many years younger. Better get a two-weeks' supply from your nearest chemist to-day and see for yourself the solid substantial benefits which accrue from taking this preparation even after using it for only two short weeks.

"THE RIGHT TO HAPPINESS"

UNIVERSAL JEWEL DLE LUXE PRODUCTION
FEATURING THE GREAT EMOTIONAL STAR
DOROTHY PHILLIPS
IN
MARVELOUS DUAL ROLE

The "Right to Happiness" is the world's mightiest photodrama. The star chamber sessions of the Russian Soviet are relentlessly unveiled in this pathetic drama of modern Russia. Hun agents bearing gold to Lenin and Trolsky arrive there. A girl skips lightly into the room, leaps to the marble rostrum and inflames the smouldring brains of the "comrades" by her creed of violence, Than she leaves Petrograd for New York as on envoy of destruction from lcders of the radicals. How she finds her sister living in splendour in New york and how the whole fury her of heart is directed against her own father, who is known to her as a stone-hearted money king, forms the them of this unusual film drama. When this drama was shown in Calcutta and Rangoon it made such a sensation that it found neccssary to hold over for two more weeks.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICL

Sir,—Will you, Sir, allow me the your influential columns to secure and fairplay to the undergraduates, are members of the I. D. F.? They to say being now harrassed by a retr resolution which is to be brought befo Syndicate of the Bombay University reconsideration. Our University ha dom been known for spontaneous liberal-minded progress. Whenever it moved onward in the direction of pr it has done so only under severe pr of circumstances. But the resoluti the Syndicate has cancelled a very i ant concession and has taken back has already been bestowed and reco as just and expedient was not only a der, but a positive breach of faith. the Government organised a schem I. D. F. three years back, the granti concessions to the undergraduates should join the course, seemed to be iutely essential. The very nature o duty which the undergraduate me were called upon to perform demanded in view of the loss of time that mi training would involve, it was nothin plain commonsense that the members o I D. F. should as of right be allow pass their examinations by compartn The urgency was immediate. Our conservative University however took year to make such a necessary conce and upon the basis of the concession a student has enrolled himself as a me of the I. D. F. He cannot now lea without disgrace. But, on the other the Syndicate seems to have taken int head the abrogation of the concession granted. Now let me ly ask those responsible such a reckless step what change in the cumstances have they noticed that should induced them to rob the unsuspecting st of his opportunities? Do they conceive the I. D. F. drill and parade entails no or no exertion enough to interfere with studies of the members? If that is impression I would ask such gentlem repair to the parade grounds and see their own eyes the toiling and sweating bers cheerfully submitting to the Mil discipline the lack of which has been a se drawback in our national education, t least in Poona the I. D. F. Drill is not as o pastime; and everybody must be thank to Lieut. Hamill, that he is determine see that the I. D. F. Corps is a mode Military discipline and efficiency. But must on no account be imad that such an efficiency could be quired without strenuous exert. After a hard work for two or three hours a day to day on the parade grounds no b if he is human at all, would be so insen as to suppose that it leaves the student cient time and leisure besides his College ho to prosecute his studies equally well in all subjects. If this had not been so where the necessity to make the concession made September 1918? The fact that such a cession was made and appreciated by the litary Authorities themselves proves bey doubt that the concession was in no wa favour or a matter of grace, but a matter urgent propriety. How can that concess be withdrawn? The University can blow hot and cold at the same bre. Can the University be now permitted to at this subject with contempt for it is not g but treating the I. D. ARMY CLOTHING FACTORY CASE.

APPLICATION FOR STAY OF PROCEEDINGS GRANTED.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

AGRA, July 1.

The Army Clothing Factory Case was resumed to-day when Mr. Targett, Deputy Controller of Textiles, examined by Mr. Kadri, said that in consequence of the anonymous letters received by the Secretary of the Board and by himself he was ordered to go to Agra and make enquiles. He found shortage of 20 bales of cloth. The witness went to the railway station, examined the books and registers and questioned Lieut. Reynolds who admitted having been present at the railway station when the bales were exported. He said they belonged to a customer. The witness thereupon made over the case to the police through the District Magistrate. At this stage Mr. Kadri suggested that Mr. Targett's evidence in Nur Mahomed Khan's case might be recorded as he was going away to Bombay. Mr. Nirth Kishore, counsel for Nur Mahomed, renewed his application for the stay of the proceedings to enable his client to move the High Court for transfer of the case to Delhi. The counsel cited various High Court rulings and the case laws in support of his application. Mr. Kadri opposed the application and asked that Nur Mahomed Khan should be remanded to the lock-up, as there was a strong prima facie case against him on his own confession. The Court ordered that in view of Mr. Targett's impending departure to Bombay he should be examined and cross-examined and then the case would be adjourned to enable Nur Mahomed Khan to move the High Court for transfer. Mr. Targett having given evidence, the case of Lieut. Reynolds was resumed. The case is proceeding.

A Calcutta message of July 30 says that Engineer Lieut.-Commander W. A. Williams, R.I.M., recently gave a lecture on "Wooden Shipbuilding" to an audience of the shipowners, merchants and workmen at Chittagong in the yard of Rai Bahadur Upendralal Roy, who presided. The lecture was very instructive and was much appreciated.

TO CHRONIC DYSPEPTICS.

You can eat what you like if you take 'Bisurated' Magnesia Tablets. Make this test: Eat a meal made up of any foods which appeal to your fancy, irrespective of the fact that as a rule they have previously disagreed with you. Then take two or three 5-gr. 'Bisurated' Magnesia Tablets as directed, and you will very shortly be recounting to your friends how you got rid of your indigestion. You can explain to them also that the process was simple, direct, and perfectly natural. Acidity was the cause of your trouble, and 'Bisurated' Magnesia nullified the effect of acidity by neutralising and rendering the acid ferments absolutely impotent, hence it cannot fail to effect its purpose. Remember the name—'Bisurated' Magnesia. Your chemist is sure to stock it.

Bisurated Magnesia is one of the best remedies for Indigestion and is also obtainable in powder form.

BROACH AND ITS HEALTH OFFICER.

To the Editor of "The Chronicle."

Sir,—In your issue of the 19th instant there appears a news-letter from Surat, the third para. of which runs as follows:—"In spite of the burden of the cost of a Health Officer and a number of inspectors and sub-inspectors, one is grieved to noto that there is hardly any improvement in the sanitation of the city. The recent rains have added to the insanitary condition of some of the streets. It is regrettable to find that neither the Municipality nor the Health Officer, nor the Sanitary Association have done anything to make the city more sanitary."

I think it would be difficult to find in this Presidency a municipal town that has not its complaints and grievances in sanitary matters against its Municipality. A strange question has recently cropped up at Broach on the subject, and I shall feel much obliged if you will kindly spare a corner of your widely read paper for this letter.

A novel sort of resolution was passed last month by the City Municipality of Broach. This has amazed the whole city. It has been submitted for the approval of Government, and it is to be hoped that Government will give due consideration to it, in view of the principle involved and also of its importance to the city, and for the matter of that, the Presidency at large.

With a view to improve sanitary condition of urban areas, Government very kindly volunteered grants-in-aid of large amounts to Municipalities, if they entertained on their establishments Health Officers and sanitary inspectors of certain prescribed qualifications. The City Municipality of Broach consented and engaged the necessary officers. The lowest qualification for a Health Officer is M.B., B.S., which was formerly called L. M. & S., but hitherto the Municipality was lucky enough to secure persons of a higher degree of D.P.H. There is an unusual scarcity of scientific men on account of war, and it was not possible to get a qualified person when the post of Health Officer last became vacant.

Bowing to circumstances, the Municipality selected a candidate, who possessed the degree of L. M. & S., and was of ten years standing with good service and experience in various branches of Sanitary Department of Government to his credit. The Government accepted the nomination recommended until a "fully" qualified man was available. The new man joined his duties in September 1918 and before a month had hardly passed, the Municipality opened a new medical dispensary and directed the Health Officer to conduct it from morning to noon, and to attend to his legitimate duty of sanitation in the afternoon. This agreement is in force till now, and has been ordered probably to save the pay of a medical officer for the institution, which has proved so popular and attractive under his care and attention.

On the first day of April last, the present Municipal Board came into office, and with it, a new and younger President at the helm. The President suggested that a new man should be engaged to replace the present Health officer. This would have been a commendable step, if the new man, were one, answering, in any way, to the required standard of qualifications, but he happens to belong to the class of sub-assistant surgeon, which is far inferior to L. M. and S. degree. And one notable feature is that a higher pay of Rs. 175 has been offered to a man of inferior education, training, etc. The present incumbent, while performing double functions of a Health Officer and a medical officer, gets only Rs 150 per cent. as his pay. This is a curious appreciation of University education by University Graduates on the Board, some of whom possess double degrees. A novel proposition has been supported by a novel sort of reasoning, 1stly; that the present incumbent is unable to control the Bhangis, and 2ndly; that the proposed man has been doing duty as Health Officer at Nariad satisfactorily. But Nariad is a town considerably smaller than Broach in area, in population and in importance and in other respects. In a quiet sea, every man can be a pilot, and it may be true that this man may be doing well at Nariad. But there is nothing to show that the Municipality of Nariad engaged his services to replace a medical graduate. Here the present incumbent has been needlessly branded without giving him so much as a chance of a fair trial. He has been loaded with extra duties of the dispensary work which alone is enough to exhaust the energy of its medical officer with a daily average attendance of nearly 100 (one hundred) patients. The President's proposition was carried by a very narrow majority of two, in that 10 councillors voted for and 8 against it and a noteworthy feature is that the former are all Hindoos, while the latter consists of Hindoos, Parsees and Mahomedans.

The insanitary condition of the city is a chronic complaint, in which little improvement was noticed even during the tenure of previous Health Officers with D. P. H. degree, and with their full time devoted to sanitary duties. The best time for doing sanitary work is the morning hours, when our present Health Officer is required to attend the dispensary. In the afternoon he must be present in the office to dispose of office work, or occasionally to attend Magistrates' Court as a witness, and thus very little time is left in the evening to look to his out-door work. It is certainly hard to ruin the career of a young and rising officer for a short-coming, which should rightly be laid at the doors of other persons, and that in the face of good service reports regarding his work. There is a large establishment of Mucadams, Sub-Inspectors, Trained Sanitary Inspectors, and it is not understood what thy have been doing, and why they are not taken to task. The average daily attendance of Bhungies is always below the sanctioned scale. No serious efforts have ever been made to improve their attendance by responding to their appeals to increase their pay etc. etc. To cover their own defects of administration the Municipality has made the poor Health Officer their scape-goat and have gone to Government with an appearance of energy, activity and will to do real work.

The resolution betrays a poor conception on the part of the Municipality of the nature and responsibilities of the duties of a highly paid officer like the Health Officer. If to control the Bhangies were regarded as the principal part of his duty, then half a dozen well built and ill educated persons will do very well. They can run about the city with big sticks and abuse the Bhangies and all concerned, and keep them in order. If a man of sub-assistant surgeon class can do for a large city, Broach has already made a sorry experiment. We have a man of this class on the sanitary staff for some years past and are going to have another to add to our bitter experience. It is hopeless to expect intellectual and scientific work from persons of this class generally, or good suggestions for preventive or remedial measures in times of epidemics. The resolution is a monstrously retrogade step. It now awaits only the approbation of Government.—Yours, etc.,

A REVENUE FOSSIL.

BARODA STATE

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

(CONTRIBUTED.)

There are few in Indian States who come up in administrative efficiency to Baroda State. For solid work and sincerity with which that work is carried, Baroda stands by itself. We all know lead given by the Baroda State in national matters. We are familiar with great social reforms introduced by its enlightened ruler. We are also familiar with the democratic character of its internal administration. The credit for all is due to His Highness the Gaekwar to complete its all-round progress, it has spared no efforts in giving a start to its industries which could well be started in the State. It was very often remarked Baroda in inviting able officers from other "clothing" either of the British Government or the Mysore State. Both the British and the Mysore Governments gave able administrators to the Baroda State. Baroda had little to take pride in having parts of India, merely put on "the cloth borrowed talent. But of late His Highness has mainly depended upon the talent of the State itself, with such results as could gratify the most exacting critics.

INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITIES.

The recent speech of the Dewan before the Industrial Committee is a most pleasant and encouraging reading. There are few speeches that mark the progress of the State than the one delivered in Baroda, in which an outline of the State's activities towards industrial advancement was outlined. The speech is the most memorable speech we have had for some time on Indian industrial matters and it should have been better noticed in the papers than it has been done. After presenting the Committee with an outline of the efforts made by the State in promoting new industries during the last twenty years, the Dewan analysed the conditions necessary for winning the confidence of capitalists outside the State. He laid down two most important conditions for the building up of industries in Indian States. The first was the confidence that was to be inspired in the fixity of the laws, and the second was the independence of their judicial tribunals. One would add another condition to these two, and that is the honesty and sincerity of the ruler towards his subjects. Innumerable instances may be cited from Kathiawar States in which the rulers have become rich at the expense of the subjects and who have thwarted every enterprise of the subject. To these conditions may be also added a spirit of sacrifice on the part of the rulers, with a view to add to the general prosperity of the State. Whether it was the modesty of the Dewan, or whether he was unconscious of it, the Baroda State has also fulfilled these two additional requirements. No one who reads the Dewan's speech can but feel the sincerity of the State and its great sacrifices for the common good. Such an example on lines similar to those set by it in educational and social work, must now be followed by the British Government itself and other States. Mysore has always sounded the big drum from the house top. It has always taken pleasure in advertising its industrial movements but it has not done as solid, a work as the Baroda State. Baroda has worked silently and on safe and certain lines without innumerable projects like and economic conference, committees and officials as in the case of Mysore State or the British Government.

COMPARISON WITH BRITISH INDIA.

One is compelled to compare the Dewan's speech with the activities to the Department of Industries in British India. It has often been pointed in "The Chronicle" that the British Government is lacking in sincerity in its industrial policy. Its efforts are perfunctory and halting. It has no desire to stimulate the industrial growth though it has a wide and very complex organisation; it has on the conrary put every obstacle in the way of rapid industrial growth. The creation of the Chemical Service is one of those acts of the bureaucratic Government which will retard the cause of chemical industries by a few years. If the British Government had gone on lines similar to those of the Baroda State much more useful work could have been done. A good many companies of real public usefulness would have grown up instead of the sham floatations one reads of almost every day. But the policy of the British Government is not, one is sorry to say, the policy of the Baroda State. Baroda's sincerity is marked in every word uttered by the Dewan. His Highness's Government is so anxious to take the lead in industrial matters that to give a hearty but vigorous and unfailing support to the State's industries at great sacrifices it has embarked on a very wide constructional programme.

To help new industries, transport facilities must be given. Without such transport facilities industries on a large scale cannot be undertaken. The State has therefore completed schemes for the construction of three ports on the West Coast—one at Dwarka (Adatra) another at Vellan near Diu Islands, and the third at Bilimora. All these places belong to the State, and it so happens that they are well suited for great industrial undertakings. The schemes for Dwarka and Vellan are complete, but it is to be hoped that the State will not now cause delay in taking up the construction of these ports. The one at Vellan is most urgently needed, and should be taken up in hand immediately. If Baroda wants to take advantage of the present progress, it must set aside its red tape and proceed immediately with the constructional part of the programme. His Highness is at present in England, and that is a good opportunity of getting things done quicker, specially as Sir George Buchanan is also in England.

Before concluding one's remarks of this great pioneer work, one should not omit to take notice of the services rendered by the Director of Commerce and Industries, Mr. Nanavati. It was through Mr. Nanavati's unfailing energy and high and great ability that the State was able to build up a constructive policy for its industrial growth. One would like to see such policy followed in British India and other States. Realising the futile character of the showy conferences, the Director approached personally the leading capitalists and convinced them by interviews and discussions of the great possibilities of the State. He also obtained the co-operation of the Tatas, and the State could not have done better than getting the services of these great industrial pioneers.
